ILLINOIS STATE NORMAL UNIVERSITY

From '71

And a future more promising than the
significant past.

THE YEAR AND THE YEARS

The transformation of our campus from a corn field and swamp into its present condition is an evolution with which most of us are familiar. On September 29, 1857, the corner stone of Old Main was laid. The progress which bridges the gap between now and then appears, when studied closely, to be a mosaic work, the small pieces of which are the numbered contributions of each year.

This year has added its accomplishments to the series which goes to make up whole. One of the greatest generally acknowledged needs on this campus has been the existence of a meeting place where students can mingle with one another and with the various members of the faculty. This year has seen that need fulfilled. On the ground floor of Old Main in the southeast corner can now be found two beautifully furnished rooms with an adjoining dinette. Carpetings, furniture, and draperies all blend to form a desirable and comfortable setting in which to talk or play bridge (or, as is most likely, to do both). A radio is also included among its assets. The latter frequently affords the music when there is a general desire to dance.

Not only has the Student Lounge been at the disposal of the student body at large, but it is also used by the various organizations which are active on the campus. Along with dancing and bridge, teas are a pleasantry which can be enjoyed there. All in all, it is the realization of a long held dream.

However, the Student Lounge did not appear with the waving of a magic wand and uttering of a few mystic syllables. The road which led to the development of the old idea into the present actuality was a rocky one indeed. The way was led by President Fairchild and two committees composed of one or two student council members, various people chosen from the student body at large, and several members of the faculty. The major initiative and responsibility was, no doubt, carried by President Fairchild. However, the Student Lounge is a standing evidence of an excellent co-operation between the students and the faculty. The faculty, the student council, and the student body at large all responded eagerly in the carrying out of plans whether it was merely the attendance at some movie, the receipts of which were to go toward financing it, or in acting with some committee. The faculty alone made a considerable contribution. And so we are justly proud of not only the Lounge as it exists today but also the spirit in which it was created.

Let us move to another point in the progress of this year. Another great step in advance was taken when the student body was given a free Index. This year every student who has been enrolled in school for three terms and who desires a book may have one.

In the past we have paid a certain sum through our activity fee and then, if we wanted a book, we paid again. For many of us the initial payment through our activity fee was a dead loss because we could not make the second contribution. That undesirable situation was corrected this year. By paying an additional sum through our activity fee and for a total amount less than on the old plan all of us may have an Index. Certainly this move has given the Index a greater significance and dignity of purpose when it is considered as a record of collegiate events of the student body and for the student body.

Our other publication, the Vidette, has not been asleep this year. For the first time in its history it was published two times a week. This is still on experiment and whether it will be ultimately better than the old system is undecided, but experiment, in itself, is indicative of progress, or at least the search for it. In many respects; the coverage of news is superior to the old plan. Also, when the Vidette is looked upon as a work shop for journalistic experience, the increased activity of two issues a week appears distinctly advantageous.

Not only has the Vidette carried on an interesting experiment this year but it has also been extremely instrumental in the promoting of all student activities which are beneficial to the school in general. Particularly was this so in the stimulation of interest and action concerning the Student Lounge.

Free movies! And good ones at that, were offered to the students this year. Many a barren evening was brightened by the images on the silver screen in Capen Auditorium. With the exception of the movies given for the benefit of the Student Lounge, nearly every week end brought free pictures. In the majority of cases the value of these movies can not be over estimated. Many of us, to speak frankly and in the vernacular of the day, are practically broke, not only occasionally but perennially. So in the gloom which is inescapable at times while under this economic pressure we gladly welcome an opportunity momentarily to shake off travail of reality and drift among the images before us as they inhabit worlds foreign to us. In this escape we unconsciously broaden our range of ideas. The quality of the ideas varies, of course, in direct proportion with the quality and worth of the picture. This year we have had pictures of exceptionally high caliber.

It is customary to dedicate a work such as this Index to some person or organization. In this respect we are again deviating from the traditional. This book is not indebted for its inspiration or its completion to any single individual or any particular organization. Like nearly everything else in our contemporary world, it is a product of society and of that special niche of society centering around our campus.

There has been, of course, the general leadership by the Index staff in the execution of detail. But the Index Staff can be, at most, only an instrument which the student body uses in the carrying out of its will. And so, believing as we do that society perpetuates itself, and that from within it arises both our greatest good and our greatest evil—believing these things and realizing that this book would not have even the reality of a dream were it not for the student body—we respectfully dedicate the nineteen thirty-four Index to the students and faculty who form the Illinois State Normal University.

That my real appreciation may be shown, I reserve this space to commend those who have so faithfully rendered their time, effort and talent to the production of the 1934 Index that it might pleasingly reflect those memories that aided in the evolution of the year's events.

First, to Owen Marsh, whose complete knowledge of engraving became so indispensable in the shaping of the first dummy of this publication; to O. M. Rogers, and his son Oliver, both of whom gave valuable advice in regard to printing and whose tireless efforts during the last two weeks of school made possible the distribution of books early in the Commencement week; to Joseph Hawkins, whose business ability and unending co-operation made possible the plan of "free photography", a policy presented to the students for the first time in the history of Index publication; to the 1933 Index staff and Howard Oetting for the use of engravings which were turned over to the present staff; to Ralph Ernst, whose knowledge of photography has afforded this book many unusual views and campus activity; to K. G. Cooley, whose efforts have placed this attractive cover around our volume; and to the Art Foto Shop, whose pinch-hit in the last inning supplied faculty pictures upon the failure of the preceding staff to return all faculty cuts; to the members of both the editorial and business staffs, who have neglected other responsibilities to perform their duties for the yearbook;—to these persons I give my sincere thanks with the hope that contacts, friendships, and pleasant memories shall live forever.

THE EDITOR

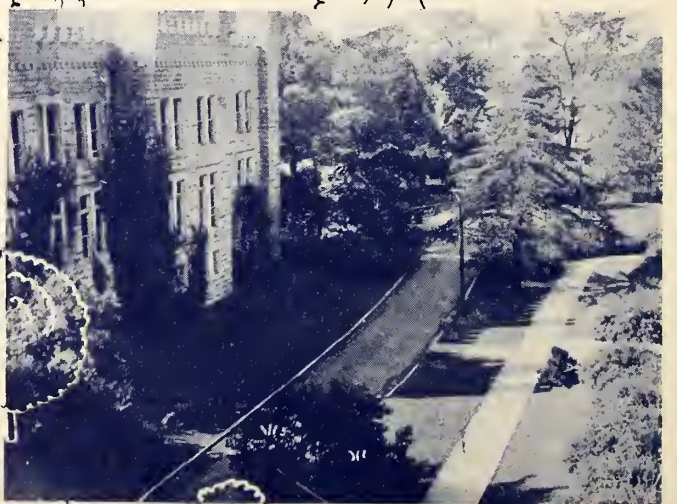

On the following pages will be found some views of the buildings which mark our campus. They range in appearance as they do in age—widely. Old Main, of course, stands the firmest and the most serene in its rich traditions. For beauty of another type, no doubt Old World in character, the Old Castle is an attraction. With its excellent equipment and scientific arrangement, the David Felmley Hall of Science holds an interest peculiar to itself. And likewise with the other buildings there is to be found a particular atmosphere surrounding each. As we turn through the next few pages it will be a review of familiar sights, scenes of work and growth, and in the perspective of years—happiness.

For most of us life is too overflowing to be perienially confined between the covers of a book. We turn to athletics, to dramatics, to forensics, or to music for an outlet. Perhaps one of the marks of an educated man is a diversity of interests in life. In college these interests are fulfilled by extra-curricular activities—that busy campus life which is so vehemently praised and criticized. The secret of a happy student life lies, no doubt, in a wise combination of class-room and out-of-class activities. It is such a harmony that this school is striving for. This year, with its academic accomplishments and its colorful campus life, has been a step in that direction.

HOMECOMING

PRESIDENT R. W. FAIRCHILD

C. M. HAMMERLUND

R. W. FOGLER

Homecoming—the week-end of week-ends; the most brilliant annual occasion of every college's social life; the Mardi-Gras of the campi—was brought to life for a pulsating three-day existence on the campus of Old Normal. Lunch-eons, dances, parties, banquets, plays, initiations, and just “Where have you been?” sessions figured in the celebration.

The first actual evidence of the Homecoming festivities was the production of George Kelley's “The Show-Off” on Thursday night. The audience was composed largely of students, and there was registered that evening the first pulsations of a tingling feeling which is inseparable with the celebration of Homecoming.

Friday the chatter in the halls rose from its usual monotonous pitch to a higher note of excitement and enthusiasm. Final arrangements were made that day concerning dates, room-mates, laundrymen, tailors, florists, barbers, musicians, confectioners, and many others who have an indispensable hand in the activities of Homecoming. Evening crept on. The lights in Capen Auditorium began to glow. Students and alumni and town's people gathered and rustled in their seats while they kept up a suppressed and nervous murmuring. A tall man appeared before the curtain. A breathlessness, and then our new President addressed the crowd. At the conclusion of Dr. Fairchild's address of welcome the curtain opened and “The Show-Off” was started upon its second performance.

While Old Normal's actors and actresses were gesturing and articulating behind the footlights in Capen Auditorium, colored lights and the smooth music of Jan Garber were enticing many people into an evening of dancing at the Men's Gymnasium.

Both gymnasiums were decorated in a modernistic manner with black and silver. The walls were covered with black tarleton on which at intervals were wavy stripes of silver paper. Lighting fixtures of circular modernistic design with red and white lights in them were used. Two huge silver "N's" containing red lights were suspended from the ceiling at either end of the men's gymnasium. At the south end of this room the orchestra was located.

About a thousand people attended the dance, many of them drifting into the women's gymnasium where loud speakers reinforced the music. Old friends met one another and talked feverishly amid the buzzing crowd. This went on and on. It ended but the excitement and enthusiasm were unquenchable.

In spite of the lateness of Friday night's activities, many arose bright and early Saturday morning to attend various club breakfasts. The Kappa Mu Epsilon society convened at the Normal Presbyterian Church for their breakfast. The same activity was engaged in by the Hieronymus Club at the Campus Inn. However, the most unique celebration of Homecoming did not appear until about ten o'clock. That bizarre spectacle, the Hobo Parade, proceeded through the campus and past the variously decorated houses of the students. The crowd was equally entertained and amazed by the parade and by the ingeniously decorated houses.

At eleven a. m. the prizes were announced to the waiting throng on the campus south of Old Main. The C. H. Hall residence at 305 North Street captured the prize for the best decorated house. This winning set-up consisted of an enormous clock face, graphically reminded the Homecomers of the time schedule of the most important events of the celebration. Surmounting this was a red bird resembling the blue eagle and holding in one hand the "game" and in the other the NRA sign. NRA was interpreted as meaning "Normal Rewelcomes Alumni". The Vidette won the prize given to the cleverest entry in the Hobo Parade.

After the distribution of awards the crowd broke up, scattering to many different attractions on and off the campus. The Commerce Club held a reception for the Homecomers in the Old Castle. At the same time in room 33 in Old Main the Kappa Delta Pi initiation took place. The beautiful new Tilden Hall Hotel was the scene of the Kappa Phi Kappa and the Kappa Delta Epsilon luncheon. At eleven thirty a.m. the Lowell Mason Club had lunch at Luties Party House. In the parlors of the Normal Methodist Church the Kappa Delta Pi convened for their banquet. A high spot in the day for many of the Homecomers, and for that matter students too, was the Kindergarten Club Luncheon at the Maplewood Country Club.

Out on the athletic field that afternoon the Red Birds vanquished Carbondale in a 12-0 victory. The weather was perfect, and one of the greatest crowds in history flooded the Normal bleachers and field. After the game the throng broke up, forming a colorful procession across the campus. Again the gathering scattered to a multitude of different attractions, some going to the Pi Kappa Delta banquet, some to the Curriculum "N" dinner, and others to the dinner given by the Fell Hall Honor Residents. Later, athletes, old and young, gathered for the "N"

At six p.m. in the LaFayette Tea Room the Pi Omega Pi banquet was held. Many alumnae and students joined at the Maplewood Country Club for the banquet of Women's Athletic Association. Thus in a wide variety of ways and in a multitude of different places the students and alumni gathered to chat and to enjoy themselves in pleasant reunion.

Saturday night the third and last performance of "The Show-Off" was given. Following this last performance the casts were entertained at a reception given by the Jesters and the Theta Alpha Phi dramatic societies. At eight thirty p.m. that night the members of the Theta Alpha Phi collected at the East Bay Camp at Lake Bloomington for their party of the season.

At that same time Bernie Cummins and His New Yorkers were entertaining a merry gathering at the Men's Gymnasium. Like the preceding night, the gymnasium was filled. The characteristic gayness and excitement was stronger than ever. The many-toned murmur of the talk, the blanket of drifting music, and the deep, glowing lights all combined to make the evening indelible in the minds of all. The old, old, spirit of the school was there. It was felt like the presence of an invisible friend—indescribable, yet vibrant and real.

Sunday came as a quiet benediction to all these festivities. The Young Women's Christian Association conducted a sunrise service. Out at Lake Bloomington the Theta Alpha Phi group convened for a breakfast at the East Bay Camp. The Newman Club gathered at the Rogers Hotel for breakfast. Many went to the special Homecoming services offered by each of the local churches. Over Normal the students and alumni could be seen quietly walking or slowly riding along. They were taking advantage of their last chats before parting.

Later the visitors had gone. A melancholy emptiness pervaded all. A stillness lingered over Old Main. It stood tall and quiet in the twilight as if it were thinking of the events just passed. Homecoming was over. A cool wind blew up. In the tower the clock sounded a note of peace and contentment.

DRAMA

by WENDELL E. OLIVER

The University Theater of Illinois State Normal University has a list of distinguished productions in the plays staged in Capen Auditorium. In the past such plays as "Lilliom", "R.U.R.", "Allison's House", "Outward Bound", "Quality Street", "The Black Flamingo", "Cock Robin", "Your Uncle Dudley", and "Belle Lamar" have been some of the well-known dramas presented.

During the year of 1933-34 a number of plays have been added to the roll. The Home-coming play was George Kelley's well-known "The Show Off". This play was double cast as follows: Clara, Carolyn Heinemann and Olga Pryatel; Mrs. Fisher, Helen Campbell and Dorothy Sternberg; Amy, Eloise Fisher; Frank Hyland, Lewis Winegarner; Mr. Fisher, Stanley Drew and Paul Balding; Joe, Paul Hudelson and Ralph Livingston; Aubrey Piper (The Show-off) Richard Noble and Wendell Oliver; Mr. Gill, Frank Holstein and John Weldon; Mr. Rogers, Donald Imhoff and Richard Tuttle.

The committee heads for the play were: Business manager, Virginia Abbott; publicity, Leo Lutz; House, Edwin Rakow; stage Alfred Robinson; lighting, Donald Deyo; scenery, Helen Bischoff; properties, Geraldine Schroeder; Costumes, Dorene Murphy; make-up, Lois Kleinau; poster design, Preston Ensign. The assistant director was Glenn Taylor.

The Jesters sponsored the play "Once in a Lifetime" by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman, and staged one of the York Cycle of "The Nativity" plays.

Theta Alpha Phi sponsored the play "Berkeley Square" by John L. Balderston.

The Childrens' Theater, a branch of the University Theater, staged "The Prince and the Pauper" by Mark Twain.

The Senior-Sophomore play was William Shakespeare's "The Taming of the Shrew".

The University Theater is divided into ten divisions. The director of the Theater, Mabel Clare Allen is the chairman of the Theater Board consisting of ten committee chairmen; publicity, Dorothy Sternberg; make-up, Catherine Donaldson; lighting, Glenn Taylor; Stage, Alfred Robinson; scenery, Jean Snyder; properties, Virginia Abbott; business, Harry Cade; president of Jesters, Clifford Scott; and president of Theta Alpha Phi, Wendell Oliver. Each one of these committee chairmen is responsible for the organization of his department for the various programs, plays, and entertainments given during the school year. Thus the Theater Board aids in the operation of the Theater by keeping account of the conditions of the different departments and consulting with the director of the Theater in regard to the needs of the department, the amount of material on hand, and the possible future plans.

During the course of the year the Theatre has established closer relationships with a number of colleges and neighboring high schools. Delegations from Eastern Illinois State Teachers College travelled to Normal to see productions in the Theater as did also several groups from Illinois Wesleyan University at several of the plays.

THE SHOW-OFF.

SCENE FROM THE NATIVITY.

THE NATIVITY

The Jesters, a local dramatic organization on the campus of Illinois State Normal University, presented one of the York Cycle plays "The Nativity", arranged by John Baird, in Capen Auditorium prior to Christmas vacation. The play was an adaption of one of the old York Cycle plays that were produced by the guilds. The guilds considered these performances serious undertakings. They started the plays at half-past four in the morning and continued all day. The subject matter of the old plays included most of the Chief Biblical incidents from Creation on, and usually ended with a portrayal of the Judgment Day.

The Jester production was a combination of selections from the original York Cycle, including the part from its twelfth through its seventeenth scene. John Baird of Northwestern University arranged the play and kept the spirit of the old original plays but made the language and the verse form more easily understood by a modern audience.

ONCE IN A LIFETIME

The comedy "Once In A Lifetime" by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman was shown in Capen Auditorium on January 26 and 27. The audiences were shown three vaudeville actors involved in the whirl of the Hollywood motion picture business. The slow-witted George promoted by the alert May and aided by the business-like Jerry, provoked many a chuckle as he crunched his nuts and proceeded to be a movie magnate.

The wit of the old vaudeville trouper was shown by May as she skilfully guided the inertia-bound George in and out of situations, while Jerry came on and off the stage in the course of a busy business man's life.

The play was remarkable for its setting, for its large cast, and its well-planned movement. The realistic Pullman car set-up and an old hotel bed-room scene gave the audience the full benefit of the mood of the elaborate Hollywood atmosphere.

The play was one of the most ambitious production ever undertaken in the University Theater. More than forty characters appeared on the boards of Capen Auditorium before the performance was concluded—more than had appeared in any one play before this for several years.

The satire on Hollywood, the fast movement of many scenes, the comedy of modern "wise-cracking", and the variety of characters served to entertain the audience during the evening.

A great deal of credit is due Miss Mabel Clare Allen for the direction of this play, and much can be said for the co-operation shown by the many players included in the cast.

BERKELEY SQUARE

The fantastic play of the modern and eighteenth century, John L. Balderston's "Berkeley Square", was offered to the public as one of the plays of the University Theater on March 29 and 30. The play was unusual as it employed the "flash-back", or the portrayal of a modern scene, and then the transportation of the character back into the realm of the past, allowing him to exist there much in the same fashion as Mark Twain's "Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court". The treatment of the play was of much more serious nature than Mark Twain's story, however, the words of the main character, Peter Standish, expressed the mood of the play when he said; "Now look here. Here's an idea. Suppose you are in a boat sailing down a winding stream, you watch the banks as they pass you. You went by a grove of maple trees, up-stream. But you can't see them now, so you saw them in the past, didn't you? You're watching a field of clover now; its before your eyes at this moment, in the present. But you don't know what is around the bend of the stream there ahead of you. There may be wonderful things but you can't see until you get around the bend in the future, can you? Now, remember, you're in the boat. But I'm up in the sky above you, in a plane. I'm looking down on it all. I can see all at once. So the past, the present and future to a man in the boat are all one to a man in the plane. Doesn't that show how all Time must really be one? Time—real Time, is nothing but an idea in the mind of God".

ST. LOUIS SYMPHONY

As a presentation of the University Lecture Course the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra appeared in concert in Capen Auditorium, Tuesday, February 20, with Vladimir Golschmann directing. It gave one of the most stirring concerts heard on the campus in recent years.

The "Overture to Don Giovanni", by Mozart, was the introductory number of the program. The Tschaikowsky "Symphony No. VI" followed. After the intermission they played the "Sorcerer's Apprentice" by Ducas, which Olin Downes calls a crackling Gallic joke—all fun and virtuosity. The brilliant waltzes from "Rosenkavalier" (The Rose Knight), by Richard Strauss, closed the program.

The first encore was the popular "Minuet" by Bocherini of eighteenth century Italy, played by strings alone. A welcome opportunity to enjoy the artistry of Mr. Guidi came with the "Prelude to the Deluge" of Saint Saens, in the second encore.

The familiar "Hungarian Dance, No. V" by Brahms made the last encore the favorite of the evening for many. During the entire program, however, the audience was enthusiastic and appreciative.

LECTURE COURSE

PAVLEY-OUKRAINSKY BALLET

The world-famous Pavley-Oukrainsky Ballet, headed by Serge Oukrainsky was presented Tuesday night, November 7, as the first Lecture Course number of the year.

On the program Mr. Oukrainsky and his company presented dances of every variety, comedy, drama, character portrayal, and dances representative of various countries. The dance which appealed most to the audience was Mr. Oukrainsky's Persian number, a vivid and exotic impersonation of a beautiful and strange picture of the Far East. All the dances presented by this group were staged and arranged by Mr. Oukrainsky himself.

DR. EDWARD HOWARD GRIGGS

On Friday, November 17, Dr. Edward Howard Griggs, noted lecturer appeared for the second Lecture Course number.

Dr. Griggs was once Head of the Department of Ethics at Leland Stanford University, but the classroom was too small for him. When he was sent out to acquaint the California public with collegiate themes, his audiences settled his future career. For thirty years he has been appearing on the lecture platform, during which time the World has been his classroom.

TED SHAWN DANCERS

The Ted Shawn Dance Ensemble was presented under the auspices of the University Lecture Board, Friday evening, April 13.

The ensemble, composed entirely of men, featured Ted Shawn, assisted by six men whom he has trained. Although Mr. Shawn recognizes the great contribution made to the dance by women, he is proving that at least fifty percent of the expression of life through the dance can be achieved by men.

The program, which consisted of music visualizations, primitive play and labor dances and religious dances, was stirring and spectacular. Mr. Shawn's programs, critics believe, are doing more than anything else to broaden the concept of what the art of the dance really is.

NATHAN MILSTEIN

Nathan Milstein, the brilliant Russian violinist, played at Capen Auditorium, Tuesday evening, April 3, in the course of his fifth consecutive tour. Said to be the sensation of three continents, Mr. Milstein was born in Odessa, but went to Germany in 1925. His success in central Europe led to tours of America, where he has appeared with many of the leading symphony orchestras.

Capen Auditorium was filled by students, faculty members and their friends, to listen to his superb playing. His earnestness and his friendly smile added warmth to the admiration his skill evoked.

Emanuel Bay, Mr. Milstein's accompanist, is an artist in his own right, with a keen sense of the part he is to play at each moment.

NADINE SHEPARDSON

NADINE SHEPARDSON

On Thursday evening, April 26, as the closing number of the University Lecture Course, Miss Nadine Shepardson presented an evening of dramatic reading. Miss Shepardson is a graduate of Northwestern University and was for several years a member of the University School of Speech and Theater Arts there. Her program included dramatic sketches of character, done as plays for one person.

SPEECH

The American and British view points on the question "Resolved, that the essential features of the British Broadcasting System should be adapted by the United States" were presented on December 7, 1934 in Capen Auditorium. President Fairchild presided at the debate.

The British point of view was presented by Alastair Sharp and Michael Barkway representing Cambridge University of England. The American ideas on the subject were set forth by the representatives of Illinois State Normal University, H. Clifford Scott and Wendell E. Oliver.

The debate was the third annual international debate and was well attended. The audience was entertained by the style of debating used by the Englishmen, which differs from that used in this locality. The heckling of the visitors delighted the listeners as did the amusing comments of both teams in speaking of the arguments of the opposition. The irony, twisted analogies, and clever turns of wit provoked a high degree of interest throughout the debate. The exhibition was marked by the humor of the Englishmen and the efforts of the Normal debaters, Clifford Scott and Wendell Oliver, to show the lack of argument by the Cambridge men and the humorous side of the English arguments. They also pointed out evidence favorable to the American broadcasting practices.

The Cambridge team toured the United States and met teams from the University of Georgia, Tulane University, University of Missouri, University of Kansas, the College of St. Thomas in St. Paul, Minnesota as well as Illinois State Normal University. The Englishmen proved to be well read on a number of questions; however but one proposition was debated at Normal.

Alastair Sharp proved to be a Scotsman born in Aberdeen. In 1930 he went to Clare College, Cambridge University, where he was active in athletics, music, and other student activities.

The other debater of the English team was a true Englishman. He was a native of Yorkshire, educated at Queen's College of Cambridge. Mr. Barkway was active in student activities.

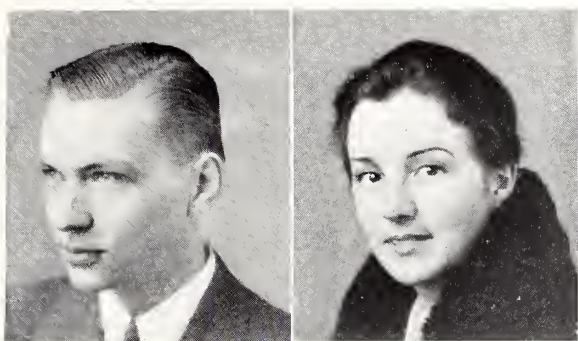

The Normal representatives worked with Dr. Fred S. Sorenson in preparing for the clash. Mr. Scott was an experienced debater. He had been a varsity debater the previous season. Mr. Oliver was a member of the team that debated Trinity College of Dublin, Ireland in the second annual international debate.

The debaters and others attended a reception for the English debaters at Fell Hall after the debate. The Cambridge men spoke briefly of the life in the English Universities and their impressions of America.

RAKOW

Helen Campbell and Edwin Rakow were presented with gold medals in Capen Auditorium on March 6, 1934 as symbols of first awards in oratory and poetry speaking, respectively, on the annual Edwards Medal Contest. Virginia Abbott was selected as first among the Women speakers.

The Edwards Medal Contest is an annual event sponsored by the descendants of Richard Edwards, the second president of Illinois State Normal University who was a noted public speaker.

The contest was divided into two sections; oratory and reading of poetry. The poetry event was preceded by a preliminary elimination contest. Of the number who entered the preliminary event Virginia Abbott, Dorothy Sternberg, Gretchen McGowan, Edwin Rakow, Lloyd Wetzel and Wendell Oliver were allowed to enter the final contest.

Each contestant among the women read these selections: "To Sleep", Wordsworth; "Lovliest of Trees", Hausman; and "Song of the Trojan Women", Euripides. Among the men the selections were: "No Longer Mourn for Me", Shakespeare; "Comrades", Hovey, and a "Speech from Oedipus", Sophocles, as the poetry for the sonnet and lyric and dramatic interpretation. In the preliminaries the men and women participated in separate divisions but were placed in the same division in the final contest though the selections given by the two were different. This was the second year that poetry was included in this contest in place of dramatic reading.

Mr. E. W. Cavins presided at the program and introduced the speakers and orators. He presented the gold medals to the winners.

The orators of the contest were; Helen Campbell, Leo Lutz, and Lilith Evilyn Southgate. Miss Campbell delivered her oration on "Rubber Stamps", an oration on the influence of the propaganda of vested interests. Mr. Lutz spoke on "The Invisible Conflict", a consideration of the peace problem.

Miss Southgate delivered her oration; "Our Challenge", a plea for world peace.

Three students left their Home college to enter the campus and halls of Western State Teachers College at Macomb, Illinois on March 27, 1934. The occasion for the journey was the annual contest of the State Teachers college Oratorical Association.

Representatives from the teachers colleges of DeKalb, Macomb, and Normal participated in the contest. The representatives from Normal were Helen Campbell, oratory; Olga Pryatel, reading; and J. Lewis Winegarner, extemporaneous speaking.

The appearance of Miss Campbell brought the third public presentation of her oration entitled "R u b b e r Stamps". Her attack upon the insidious propaganda of vested interests again won a first place.

Miss Pryatel again presented McCarthy's "Burgundian Defiance". Her work won the praises of the judges. The criticisms pointed out that her interpretation was good, the execution above the average, and the understanding of the period represented in the selection excellent. Miss Pryatel placed second in her event.

Mr. Winegarner ranked third in the extempore event.

WOMEN'S DEBATE

The Women's debate squad had a very satisfactory season. During the regular intercollegiate debating season the negative team was composed of Alice Grush and Augusta Stevens. This team participated in three regular conference debates with teams from North Central College, Augustana College, and Northern Illinois State Teachers College. They won three debates.

The affirmative team of Charlotte Allen and Gladys Rarick won three of five debates in the invitational tournament held at Normal and acquitted themselves well during the conference debates.

The question debated during the intercollegiate clashes was: "Resolved, That the federal government should provide substantial grants for the use by the public elementary and secondary schools." None of the women debating this question had had previous experience in debate.

Barbara Turner and Lilith Southgate, two veteran debaters, made up a team that spoke on the subject: "Resolved, That the powers of the president should be substantially increased as a settled policy." The same proposition used by the men in the intercollegiate conference competition. This team debated in the invitational tournament at Normal, the tournament of Manchester College at North Manchester, Indiana, and they represented the local chapter of Pi Kappa Delta at Lexington, Kentucky, the first week in April. At the latter tournament these young women won three of five contests in which they participated.

INVITATIONAL DEBATE TOURNAMENT

Illinois State Normal University sponsored the second annual invitational interstate intercollegiate debate tournament on January 25, 26, and 27. Nineteen women's teams and thirty-five men's teams participated. Six states—Wisconsin, Missouri, Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana and Illinois—were represented by various colleges and they participated in a total of one hundred seventy-three debates during the contest.

Normal was represented by twenty-seven debaters in the tournament; seventeen men and ten women. The women's teams were: A Affirmative, Charlotte Allen and Gladys Rarick; B Affirmative, Alice Grush and Margaret Keirn; A Negative, Violet Huff and Alma Witrock; B Negative, Ruby Duke, and Augusta Stevens.

The Normal Men's teams were as follows: A Affirmative, William Samp and Leo Lutz; B Affirmative, Julius Podshadley and Carlon Foltz; C Affirmative, J. Lewis Winegarner and James De Gracie; D Affirmative, Hubert Romack and Morris Porter; A Negative, Everett Collins and Ivan Rehn; B Negative, Donald Deyo and William McKnight; C Negative, Clifford Scott and Wendell Oliver; D Negative, Howard Litwiller and Glenn Taylor; Lawrence Rankin, alternate.

Barbara Turner and Lilith Southgate also debated the men's question.

The best record of the tournament was made by Augustana's A Negative men's team. The team won seven consecutive debates.

The best record made by a Normal team was established by the team captained by Ivan Rehn. The team won five debates and lost one. Gladys Rarick and Charlotte Allen were on the Normal Women's team that made the best record. Many classes in English, education, social science and speech were opened for debates on Friday, January 26. Many faculty members served as critic judges during the tournament.

Visiting coaches and debaters were entertained with an informal reception at Fell Hall from 5 o'clock to 5:30 o'clock. After the reception the visitors proceeded to the dining room.

MEN'S DEBATE

The 1933-34 Varsity Debate team started after a conference championship in a very decisive manner. The squad worked long and hard upon the question: "Resolved, That the powers of the president should be substantially increased as a settled policy." Tryouts were held for the team after the invitational tournament was over and the judges selected Donald Deyo, and Leo Lutz as the affirmative speakers. Clifford Scott and Wendell Oliver were chosen to speak on the negative side of the question. All of the men chosen had had previous experience. Lutz and Scott had been on the conference debate team in 1932-33. Oliver had three years of experience as a varsity debater.

Prospects looked very bright for a conference championship with three returning veterans and an experienced man to fill the place of the departed seniors. The first debate in conference competition was with Greenville College. Normal upheld the negative side of the question, while the visitors supported the affirmative. The debate resulted in a victory for Normal. Waldo Waltz of the speech department of the University of Illinois judged the debate.

The second clash again found Clifford Scott and Wendell Oliver arguing the negative side of the proposition against an old rival, Northern Illinois State Teachers College. Dr. Sanford, the head of the speech department of the University of Illinois, was the critic judge. The decision was awarded to Normal.

The hopes of the debaters rose with such favorable results but the tide soon turned. The third clash was scheduled with Western State Teachers College at Macomb. Leo Lutz was the first speaker for the Normal affirmative team and Donald Deyo concluded the affirmative speaking. Professor Waldo W. Waltz was again the judge and awarded the decision to the Macomb team. The loss of the debate was small in comparison to the loss suffered when Donald Deyo was forced to give up debating as a result of an operation for appendicitis. The loss of Deyo was a blow to the hopes of the debate coach, Dr. F. S. Sorrenson, but an additional problem was created when Leo Lutz did not return to the university for the spring term. When both of the affirmative speakers were lost the remaining affirmative debates were canceled.

The one remaining negative debate of the negative team was held in Bradley Hall on the campus of Bradley Polytechnic Institute in Peoria. Professor E. W. Wiggins of Eureka College was the critic judge. The team, accompanied by Dr. E. I. Cole, battled heavy snow drifts for several hours and finally reached the Bradley campus. The discussion brought a vote for the Normal team from Professor Wiggins the judge. The discussion of the debate brought much favorable comment from the judge. The adaptability to the affirmative arguments by the negative was the main point stressed by the critic judge.

The negative team, by virtue of the victories over Bradley, Greenville and DeKalb, was one of the few undefeated teams in the conference. The record of the negative debaters is commendable. In two years of conference competition Clifford Scott participated in six conference debates and was on the winning team four times. Wendell Oliver in four years of conference competition was in eleven debates; nine were won.

Several non-decision debates were engaged in by the men's teams, on and off the campus. A travelling team from the Teachers College at Warrensburg, Pennsylvania came to the campus for a practice debate. Rosary College and Northern Illinois State Teachers College were some of the other colleges that sent teams to the Normal campus for practice clashes.

The negative team went to Eureka College to engage in a practice debate before going to Lexington, Kentucky for the Pi Kappa Delta National Biennial Convention. At Lexington, the men met teams from Missouri, West Virginia, Texas and Virginia.

The season was a very successful one when all of the factors are considered. The teams won more than half of the debates in which they engaged. Relationships with many colleges with whom Illinois State Normal University had had contacts were established and the spirit exhibited was commendable.

PHIL-WRIGHT

The annual Phil-Wright clash occurred on February 16 on the traditional battle ground of the two societies, Capen Auditorium. The contest was the seventy-third edition of this ancient literary classic. The aged traditions of the societies held together well-enough to present one of the most interesting contests of recent years after some struggle. The margin of victory was very narrow. The count of the judges presented the Philadelphia society the victory by a score of 4 to 3, much to the mingled satisfaction and disappointment of the ardent supporters of the two societies.

All of the usual color and traditional atmosphere of the ancient clash was present. The contest material timely and it aroused much interest.

The Wrightonians won oratory event, the vocal selection and the reading while Philadelphia gathered in four points; one point from extempore speaking, one from piano and two from debate.

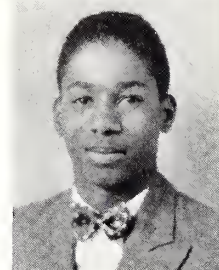

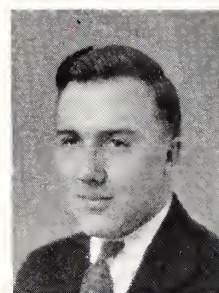

The story of the contest shows that President Fairchild opened the event with a short introductory speech. The debate immediately followed. The question debated was: "Resolved, That Fascism is a greater menace to the world than Bolshevism." Wrightonia led in all events. Clara Rasmussen; second speaker, William Samp on the affirmative side of the question.

The victorious Philadelphia affirmative team was Alice Grush, First speaker; Clifford Scott, second speaker. The debate was a closely fought duel that was characterized by the contrast in the clash between the two men in the contest and the clash between the women debaters.

Helen Campbell delivered her oration entitled "Rubber Stamps". This same oration was later to bring her national recognition as an orator.

Lilith Evelyn Southgate representing Philadelphia spoke on "Our Challenge". The judges commented on the excellence of the orations and the persuasion used by the speaker. The absence of the stereotyped vivid presentation of the orators heightened the effectiveness of the speeches.

The vocal numbers of Everett W. Singleton of the Wrightonia won this event for the society. His selections were two negro spirituals: "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot" and "Roll Jordan Roll". Mr. Singleton interpreted the songs of his race in a very commendable manner. The Philadelphia vocalist, Marjorie Wilson, sang "Dawn" and "Ho! Mr. Piper" by Cunan.

The extempore speakers each drew two topics. Ruth Bowman for Wrightonia drew the topics "Our Relations with Russia" and "Hitler". She chose "Hitler" as her subject, and proceeded to inform the audience of the life, beliefs, practices and excentricities of Adolf Hitler to the delight of the Wrightonian supporters.

Wendell Oliver, Philadelphia extempore speaker, drew as his two topics, "Hitler" and "The Crisis in Education". He chose to speak on "the Crisis in Education" and won the approval of two of the three speech judges.

Another point was added to the Wrightonian score when Anna Merle Robertson read the work of Constance D'Arcy Macy, "Ashes of Roses". The point was not won without competition however. Olga Margaret Pryatel represented Philadelphia with the reading, "The Burgundian Defiance" by McCarthy, a selection of great power, well delivered.

At this point the contest presented a tense dramatic situation. Unknown to the judges or the audience the contest was tied 3 to 3. One event remained; piano.

The contestants in piano were Verna Wasman, Wrightonia and Evelyn Lemons, Philadelphia. Miss Wasman led. Her selections were "D" Minor Sonata" (First Movement by Beethoven) and "Fireflies" by Bridge.

The judges for the music, Wilma Moffett and Janet Hadley of Millikin University and Velma Irene Kitchell of the University of Illinois voted in favor of Evelyn Lemons and Philadelphia. The tie was thus broken and Philadelphia emerged victorious.

The judges for the literary events were Alfred D. Huston and Waldo E. Waltz of the University of Illinois and Clude L. Lyons, President of Eureka College.

The victory for Philadelphia was the second in as many years. The standings of the two societies after the seventy-third contest showed 38 victories for Philadelphia and 32 for the Wrightonians. There have been three ties.

Professor Charles A. Harper sponsored the Wrightonia and Dr. Harry O. Lathrop, who succeeded Prof. George M. Palmer this year, sponsored Philadelphia.

MUSIC

Musical activities at Old Normal have been distinctly on the upgrade this year. In every music group progress has been made.

The Men's Glee Club, numbering about fifty, has concluded its most successful season in history. Outstanding events were the second annual tour and the three concerts given on the campus. The men are well prepared and have friends wherever they have appeared throughout the state.

The Women's Glee Club, which has a membership of about fifty-five, has also enjoyed a successful year during which they have made many popular appearances. The high spot of the year for this group was the presentation of the operetta, "The Rivals".

The members of the marching band, resplendent in their brilliant red uniforms, have been a popular group and have been much in demand both on and off the campus. The marching band headed by the drum-major has been a familiar sight at all athletic events. The concert band, organized during the winter, proved its merit in several concerts.

Very good material has been available for the orchestra and string ensemble so that both have been of high caliber this year. About twenty-five members are included in the orchestra, eight of whom comprise the string ensemble. Accomplishments of both groups have been highly gratifying.

The music faculty is composed of three professors and the band director.

THE UNIVERSITY MARCHING BAND

I.S.N.U. now offers a four year curriculum in music and with added recognition of the music department each year a great future is in prospect.

Beginning an unusually active year by furnishing music and entertainment at every home football game, and continuing through to play several spring concerts, the Illinois State Normal University Band has enjoyed a good year. Among the highlights of the season was a trip to Charleston for the Eastern Teachers vs. Normal football game. This date was Charleston Normal's Homecoming. Between halves Dr. Buzzard, newly appointed Eastern president, was honored with the band's "Hello, Guy Buzzard!" and "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

Homecoming was a busy time for the band. In addition to the usual playing, this year the band sponsored a high school marching band contest which was held before the football game and in which six bands participated. The Southern Teachers Band was also here, so, in all, eight bands participated in the festivities. Pekin High School, with its snappy 72-piece band, won first place; Normal Community High

THE UNIVERSITY CONCERT BAND

School won second place; and Pontiac High School took third place honors. Auburn, Chenoa, and Cropsey were the other schools which had bands entered in the contest. This program was the first of its sort to be held in Central Illinois. Its purpose was to stimulate the ideal of drilled bands in the high schools. Next year it is planned to make the contest much larger.

On the occasion of the annual Normal-Wesleyan game, on Armistice Day, the bands put on a colorful spectacle. The Wesleyan and Normal bands massed to play the national anthem as the flag was raised. During the intermission in the game both bands drilled, the Normal band executing an "I.S.N.U.," and "I.W.U.," and an animated "N", all synchronized to the music of the two colleges.

Football was followed by basketball and the band was again present at every home game and also played at the Wesleyan game in Bloomington.

Next in order came the Gamma Phi Circus for which the band furnished the musical background.

After the circus, efforts were concentrated on concert music. The band was cut in size to improve the instrumentation, and on April 10th annual indoor concert was presented to a large and appreciative audience. The balance of the year's preparation was spent on concert music and a good repertoire was developed. The usual outdoor spring concerts were given.

On May 12 the Western Teachers Band was a guest at Normal and the two bands supplied music and color for the annual Teachers College Track and Field Meet.

In addition to its activities in connection with the school, the band also participated in several civic enterprises this year, leading a division in the huge N. R. A. parade in Bloomington, and being an escort of honor to the Christmas Queen in a spectacle put on by the Bloomington Chamber of Commerce. The band also played in an Armistice Day Concert at the Court House in Bloomington.

The annual band outing was held at Lake Bloomington on May 29. This was the occasion for the presentation of awards and this year 24 people were honored with the band key. The personnel of the band follows. The asterisk indicates winners of the band key this year.

With the high standard set by the Men's Glee Club of 1932-33 as their goal, the Glee Club of 1933-34 began its year with more determination and spirit than ever before. With the memory of the good training they had received, the enjoyable times they had had, and the pleasure they had received from working with a pleasant and capable director, the year previous, still in their minds, most of the previous year's men were back for the 1933-34 group. Almost immediately came a call for the appearance of the old group in a noon-day concert at the Rotary Club in Bloomington. Tryouts for new members brought out a large number of very capable voices, and from these the club roster for the year, consisting of fifty men, was chosen.

Invitations for appearances at different places on and off the campus began to come to the club immediately after its organization for the year, but it was not until Homecoming that the club was able to make its first formal public appearance. The men sang each night of the Homecoming Play gaining, at that time, the recognition of the student body and of the new president, Dr. R. W. Fairchild. Since then, the glee club has been a part of his extensive plan to further the name of Old Normal and to acquaint the Superintendents and Principals of Central Illinois with the activities and the thoroughness of training at Normal. On four different occasions the club appeared in this behalf, each time receiving high praise accompanied by invitations for appearances.

After Homecoming the club began to show the polish which only continued, intensive practice can give. From that time on the calendar was well filled with singing engagements in the various churches, civic organizations, and schools of Bloomington-Normal and Central Illinois. A few outstanding appearances were the concert given at Wayneville, Illinois, and the full evening concert given at Washington, Illinois. The tour group, only, made the latter trip.

It has been the custom of the club to give one formal concert during the Spring term of each year. This year the club gave three. In the winter, they entertained the student body with a two hour popular concert, the enthusiasm and skill which the club showed at that time assuring it of popularity on the campus for the rest of the year. At this concert a new Alma Mater song was introduced. Mr. Richard Noble, bass soloist, wrote the music and his father of Gibson City composed the lyric. The fact that it has appeared on the formal concert since that time should speak for the general acceptance of the song. On May 23 the club presented its formal spring concert which was comparable to the concerts given in previous years. At commencement time both the Men's and Women's Glee Club presented music in a sacred concert. for the first time during the year the two clubs appeared together in a few numbers.

The high spot of the year, for the club, was its Second Annual spring tour of Southern Illinois, covering approximately four hundred miles, during which eleven concerts and two radio broadcasts were given in the four days that the club was on the road. On Tuesday morning March 13, twenty-eight picked members of the club started on the tour on which they were to give concerts ranging from thirty minutes to two hours in length. They appeared at Maroa, Pana, Vandalia, Cowden, Shelbyville, Mattoon, and Arcola High Schools; gave evening concerts at Taylorville, Vandalia, and Charleston; and broadcasted from Decatur and Tuscola. At each stop the group was royally entertained in homes, churches or schools. Dr. Buzzard, President of Eastern Illinois State Teachers College, and formerly of the faculty at I.S.N.U., entertained with food, dancing, and the company of the attractive E.I.S.T.C. girls from the women's dormitory where the club was invited as soon as they arrived in town. Carried on by a buoyancy seldom found in a tired group, the club presented probably the best concert of their tour in their concluding broadcast and were highly complimented by telegrams and telephone calls. Accompanying the singers was their director, Miss Blaine Boicourt; their youthful pianist, Mr. Vere Wolfe; and Miss Grace Shea, chaperon and Nurse.

A special attraction included in the club's programs this year was a popular quartet composed of Mr. Richard Noble, bass; Mr. Delbert Eggenberger, baritone; Mr. Earle Smith, second tenor; and Mr. Mervel Willett, first tenor. The quartet filled several engagements on occasions when the entire club could not meet, or when only a small group of singers was desired. On the tour they offered three very entertaining numbers in "Shortnin' Bread", "Street Urchn's Medley", and "Plantation". Soloists throughout the year have been Mr. Richard Noble, bass; Mr. John Sheahan, tenor, singing Irish melodies; Mr. Mervel Willett, tenor; and Mr. Everett Singleton, tenor, featuring Negro spirituals. The accompanist aided materially in the program with his interpretation of difficult selections on the piano.

The most popular member of the glee club is its director, Miss Blaine Boicourt. Miss Boicourt is a graduate of Northwestern University School of Music, and has had additional training at Cincinnati Conservatory of Music and at Columbia University. She is prominent in music activities throughout the state, and has been successful in her direction of music activities and Glee Club work for several years. She has the faculty of obtaining the complete co-operation of those with whom she is working, and is well liked by all who know her.

Front Row—L. MOORE, L. ROBINSON, L. TAYLOR, D. CONLEY, N. CRABBS, F. W. WESTHOFF, (director); C. DEY, G. BICHERDIKE, J. BELL, K. DAY, J. BISCHOFF, R. NYE.

The Girls' Glee Club is composed of girls with voices ranking B or above. The groups meet every Monday and Thursday nights. The purpose of this group is to receive effective training in singing, to appear in programs, and to maintain the high music standard of the school.

The officer's are Camilla Dey, President; Dorothy McHenry, Accompanist; and Julia Bischoff, Secretary.

Mr. Westhoff, the director and sponsor, has led this group through a most successful year. He instills in the members' hearts a deep desire to present music in an effective manner. The work is made pleasant by his direction.

Among the many public appearances made this year were: various church services, Homecoming services, Commercial Club Banquet, High School Contest receptions, University High School program, Easter Services, and Mother's Day service. However, the most outstanding programs were the Christmas service, in which the Girls' Glee Club marched in processional and recessional choruses, each girl dressed in a choir robe, carrying a lighted candle and silver covered book, and the commencement program in which the club joined with the Men's Glee Club in singing Dudley Buck's "Te Deum in C" and "Hymn to Music".

The club accepted the invitation from Mr. Westhoff's "Musical Production" class to sing and act the operetta, "The Rivals". A very successful performance of the operetta was given in Capen Auditorium on Feb. 28. On the next night the group went to Roanoke to give the operetta there. The same was again a great success.

THE UNIVERSITY ORCHESTRA

The University Orchestra, under the direction of Prof. F. W. Westhoff, has completed another successful year.

Regular rehearsals have been held every Monday; the ninth hour, and special rehearsals were often held on Thursday, the fifth hour.

The Orchestra played between the acts of the Homecoming play, also at the play "Once in a Lifetime". A part of the Orchestra was selected to play a light accompaniment for the University High School operetta, "Ask the Professor." Later in the year, the full orchestra accompanied the operetta given by the Women's Glee Club, "The Rivals". The orchestral arrangement for this operetta was written by Prof. Westhoff. The members feel that this experience was very worth while, even though the rehearsals were quite intensive and required a great deal of extra time. All the members went to Roanoke with the operetta cast on the night following its presentation in the Capen Auditorium.

The Orchestra played at the Senior-Sophomore play, "The Taming of the Shrew", using music of the Shakespearean period.

The activities of the Orchestra reached the final climax of the year during Commencement week. All members feel that their work has improved considerably since their first rehearsal last September, and that much credit is due their director for the success of the year.

THE STRING ENSEMBLE

THE UNIVERSITY STRING ENSEMBLE.

Last fall, for the first time, Prof. F. W. Westoff, director of the I.S.N.U. orchestra organized a string ensemble to fill a felt need for a small, flexible organization to furnish music for receptions, luncheons, etc.

The membership of the ensemble was chosen from the string section of the regular orchestra. It includes Prof. F. W. Westoff, director, Misses Gail Wiles and Mary Katherine Margrave, first violin, Misses Elsie Muehlenpfordt, Eleanor Gamer, and Mr. Harry Dunham, second violin, Miss Dorothy Lasko, third, violin, Mr. Oliver Buck, viola, Miss Mary McCulloch, cello, and Miss Dorothy McHenry piano. Miss Laverne Taylor was a violinist during the fall and winter terms but was not in school the spring term.

The string ensemble owes much of its success to Mr. Westoff who not only sponsored and directed the organization, but also made many of the arrangements for the pieces played by the ensemble. The other factor in the success of the organization is the untiring efforts and co-operation of the players.

The string ensemble has come to be a very popular entertaining organization and has appeared at many social functions and on many programs, both on and off the campus.

CHORAL CLUB

The Choral Club was not organized this year, however the Men's Glee Club and the Women's Glee Club combined under the direction of Mr. Westhoff for the Sacred Concert which was given in the Capen Auditorium on Sunday, June 3, the beginning of commencement week. This was the only appearance of the Choral Club on the campus for the year 1933-34.

In former years the Choral Club has been a mixed chorus, membership in which was open to the entire student body, thus many students who are interested in music were given the opportunity of singing in a group other than the glee clubs.

The Spring Sacred Concert was in the past, an annual affair, being a part of commencement week each year. The revival of this custom has met with approval and the general opinion is that the Sacred Concert should again become an annual affair.

1933 RED BIRD

Early risers in Normal on July 22, 1933 were able to catch a glimpse of the party of 55 Geographers of I.S.N.U. as they started on the eighth annual Red Bird Geography tour; a tour which in forty days would take them a distance of 4,500 miles into 14 states east of the Mississippi through the nation's capital, the provinces of Quebec and Ontario, Canada, and which had for its climax a two day visit to the Century of Progress.

Leaving Normal this group, seeking the un-exaggerated truth of our nation's geography, swung south over the flat lands of Southern Illinois and into Vincennes, Indiana; then into the hill country of Kentucky to camp.

The party proceeded down the Shenadoah Valley across the Blue Ridge and to the edge of the coastal plain, where some time was spent in a study of the National Capital including a visit to Mount Vernon.

GEOGRAPHY TOUR

Northward the route led across the pikes of Maryland with farm lands stretching to the right and left into the great battle ground of Gettysburg, then to historic Valley Forge, Philadelphia and into camp at Neptune, N. Jersey.

After an early dip in the ocean the party turned northward to visit that great Metropolis, New York City. Onward through Maine they proceeded, hiking to the top of Mt. Monadnock in New Hampshire, and then into Massachusetts.

Boston, the "stern and rockbound" coast of New England and Quebec, city in Canada furnished the text for the next few days.

Westward, the party proceeded along the St. Lawrence river to Montreal, the Lachine Rapids, the Thousand Islands, the fruit belt of Lake Ontario and to Niagara Falls. Entering the United States again at Detroit, they moved on across Michigan to Chicago to visit the Century of Progress before returning home.

The following section hardly needs an introduction. The functions of each organization speak too forcefully of it for us to hope to effect a further illumination by mere words. It is in these avenues that the students find an outlet for whatever special talents they may have. An opportunity for participation in a wide variety of educational activities is offered by these clubs. No college would be complete without its busy sphere of extra-curricular activities. Within this realm an especially prominent part is played by many student organizations which vary in nature from mechanical arts to interpretive dancing. Upon our campus we are particularly aware of their contribution to college life and on the following pages present the groups which have been active during the last year.

WOMEN'S LEAGUE

Since the fall of 1925, the Women's League of Illinois State Normal University has been striving to further the spirit of unity among our college women. Each year Women's League has enlarged its activities.

The organization of the Honor Council under the direction of Mary Ellen Reece, the fellowship chairman, was a forward step for the year 1933-34. The Honor Council is an outgrowth of the Big and Little Sister movement which was started in the year 1927-28 by the appointment of upper-class counsellors for the Freshmen girls. The counsellors introduced the new students into campus life and helped them in making their adjustments.

The Honor Council was made up of ten upper-class girls together with the fellowship chairman and president of Women's League, who were chosen for their leadership, scholarship, poise, and dignity. These ten girls formed the nucleus of the new fellowship movement. Each member of the Honor Council acted as an advisor to ten girls who each performed the duties of Big Sister to four Freshmen girls.

The Honor Council gave teas for the Big and Little Sisters. Wednesday was called Honor Council Day. On that day Honor Council scarfs were worn.

The Honor Council for the past year: Helen Bain; Julia Blum; Elfrieda Boehnert; Helen Campbell; Uarta Hubbard; Maxine Maginnis; Irene Nordine; Dorothy Sternberg; Vera Tambling; Virginia Terry.

The Executive Board of the Women's League includes the officers who are chosen at the student election each spring. They assume office at the opening of the fall quarter. Aside from these, the board also includes the chairmen of committees, the president of Fell Hall, and the Dean of Women.

Their meetings are held separately every two weeks and jointly with the Central Board every four weeks.

They act as a governing body for Women's League in trying to secure for Women's League the most desirable things.

The executive board of the past year consisted of the following girls: President, Barbara Turner; Vice-President, Ann Cusack; Secretary, Dorothy Harmon; Treasurer, Rosamond Tierney; Social Chairmen, Anna Merle Robertson, Mary Huxtable; Fellowship Chairman, Mary Ellen Reece; Citizenship Chairmen, Ruby Van de Veer, Josephine Houghton; Publicity Chairman, Helen Campbell; Census Chairman, Dorothy Sternberg; Records Chairman, Julia Blum; Forum Chairman, Uarta Hubbard; President of Fell Hall, Pauline Smith; Sponsor, Dean O. Lillian Barton.

During the year 1933-34 the constitution was revised and amended at a mass meeting of the women of the school.

Ann Cusack, vice-president of Women's League, and Alice McGuire, the president-elect, were sent as delegates to the district convention of the Intercollegiate Association of Women Students at Ames, Iowa.

The Forum Committee with Uarta Hubbard as chairman made possible the following programs: November 4, 1933, "Sex Education in the Public Schools," Mrs. Margaret Wells Wood; February 1, 1934, "Social Legislation," Mrs. Florence Fifer Bohrer; February 20, 1934, "Sane Saving in Schools," Mrs. Laura Hughes Lunde.

THE CENTRAL BOARD

The Citizenship Committee, known better as the College League of Women Voters, under the leadership of Ruby Van de Veer and Josephine Houghton, made valuable contributions toward citizenship work. Their general topic for discussion throughout the year was "International Cooperation to Prevent War." On February 1, 1934, a luncheon meeting was held at which Mrs. Bohrer gave a short address.

As in previous years, the Women's League sponsored a Christmas musical program in Capen Auditorium and a convocation program.

Women's League also sponsored the following social activities: September 18, 1933, Women's Athletic Association and Women's League All-Girl's Party; October 21, 1933, Women's League All-School Party; November 10, 1933, Women's League All-Girl's Tea Dance at Fell Hall; a tea for transfer students, November 22, 1933; Women's League All-Girl's Tea Dance at Fell Hall, January 19, 1934; a tea for householders, January 31, 1934; Women's League Formal at Fell Hall, May 19, 1934.

The Executive Board, together with the district presidents, comprise the Central Board. These presidents were: Marna Brown, Margaret O'Malley, Ruth Richards, Della Read, Margery Cline, Helen Musa Kent, Virginia Abbott, Margery Madison, Alice McGuire, Evelyn Ellinger, Mildred Brubaker, Esther Hill, Medora Baker, Margaret Chesney, Lucille Knoblach, Marjorie Lambert, Irene Nordine, Loretta Thomas, Ruth Gerber.

The girls of I. S. N. U. are deeply indebted to their sponsor, Dean O. Lillian Barton, who has guided and advised the League.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

The League of Women Voters of I. S. N. U. was organized on this campus as the Citizenship Committee of the Executive Board of the Women's League. The College League of Women Voters is also affiliated with the State and National League of Women Voters. Its fundamental purpose is to further the activities of women in the affairs of government—local, national, and international. The League is a nonpartisan organization. It seeks efficient government and a better adaptation of the law to present-day conditions. This citizenship organization of the Women's League is evidence that the women of I. S. N. U. are thinking, interested citizens. Every woman in school interested in citizenship, regardless of whether she is of voting age, is eligible for membership.

During the year the League held supper and luncheon meetings, after which interesting programs were given. Ex-Senator Florence Fifer Bohrer, president of the McLean County League of Women Voters, was one of the speakers. A group of members attended the Normal City Council Meeting, studying the methods used in governing the community; five delegates attended State Meeting of the Illinois League of Women Voters, held in Chicago at the Palmer House. Miss Frances Perkins, Secretary of Labor, was the principal speaker. The question of "International Peace" was the topic discussed by the League during the year. Mrs. Dorothy Garrett Brunk, assistant professor of History, is the sponsor.

FELL HALL

Fell Hall, built in 1917, is the only residence hall for women on the Illinois State Normal University campus. It accommodates eighty-five women, nineteen of whom are upper classmen chosen as honor residents. The other residents are freshmen or students attending Normal for the first time.

The residents of the hall entertain their guests there, and other organizations on the campus have the opportunity of using the drawing room for dances, teas, and parties.

Two informal dances were given by the Fell Hall girls during the school year—one in the fall term and the other in the winter. During the spring quarter a formal dance was given.

Miss Thelma Nelson of the I. S. N. U. English department faculty is the director of the women who reside at Fell Hall, and she is assisted in the business of the organization by the officers: Pauline Smith, President; Minnie Vietti, Secretary; and Maxine Maginnis, Treasurer.

There were three standing committees this year. Virginia Clark served as chairman of the Social Committee. The other members of the committee were Georgia Smiley, Rena Wilson, Dorothy Nightingale, and Elsie Muehlenpfordt. ## VARSITY CLUB

Men of the Varsity Club began their year's activities with the usual Stag Meeting, at which the coming programs of the year were presented to the men interested in the work of the club. President Fairchild was present at the meeting and gave his first informal talk of the year to the students.

The Varsity Club was again proud to present its holiday program. A Christmas Ball and the annual Christmas religious service were the activities planned. Members of the men's and women's glee clubs of Illinois State Normal sang during the Christmas Service and the Reverend Wilbur C. Parry of Los Angeles gave the Christmas address. During the same week end the formal initiation for the winter term was held.

In keeping with the social ideals of the Varsity Club several all-school parties were given during the winter quarter.

The fifteenth annual Varsity Club Week End began with the Stunt Show, which was given on the night of May 11. Five stunts were entered and the Women's Athletic Association again won the silver loving cup for first place. Second place, the shield, went to the Fell Hall organization, which had entered a stunt for the first time in several years. A take-off on the FERA on the I. S. N. U. campus was the surprise given by the faculty.

On the following Saturday night the club members gave a closed dance at Maplewood Country Club. On the same evening the Varsity Club sponsored a special movie program featuring Katharine Hepburn in "Morning Glory."

A Mothers' Day Service was held Sunday afternoon in Capen Auditorium. Reverend B. C. Carpenter of the Unitarian Church in Bloomington spoke on the "Meanings and Motives of Mothers' Day." Following the services a reception for the visitors, students, and faculty was given in the drawing room at Fell Hall.

The Varsity Club is contemplating a picnic dinner dance to be sponsored as the last of their year's social events. The dance would be given with the cooperation of the Athletic and Oratorical Boards.

PHILADELPHIA LITERARY SOCIETY

The Philadelphia literary society is an old society; in fact, it is the oldest society on the campus. In the original founding of this organization its purpose was made clear.

This society aims to develop the individual, socially, intellectually and spiritually; and to give him an opportunity for self expression in whatever directions his talents indicate; whether it be in oratory, debate, vocal music, instrumental music, or other directions. The Philadelphia motto is inscribed in two words, "Going On." The society lived up to its motto by winning the 1934 Phil-Wright contest.

Philadelphia was represented in the Phil-Wright contest by Alice Grush and Clifford Scott in debate, Wendell Oliver in extempore speaking, Marjorie Wilson in voice, Lilith Southgate in reading, and Evelyn Lemons in piano.

The society celebrated this victory with its annual "victory" banquet, held at Hotel Tilden-Hall on April 14, 1934. Several Alumni were present. Clifford Scott acted as toastmaster and Orval Yarger responded. The contestants made up the program for the evening. Talks were given by former Sponsor, George M. Palmer, and Sponsor Dr. Lathrop.

On May 7 Philadelphia participated in a joint meeting with Wrightonia.

The organization plans to give the annual picnic this spring as usual.

As usual, Philadelphia was well represented in all the literary contests in which I. S. N. U. participated. Such names as Clifford Scott, Wendell Oliver, and Lilith Southgate tell the story.

WRIGHTONIAN LITERARY SOCIETY

The aim of Wrightonia is to give to the student who acquires membership a chance to use his ability in ways other than in the study of textbooks. The society strives to develop the talents and interests of its members in music and literary work.

Wrightonia began its year with an open meeting to which all nominal Wrightonians were invited. The enthusiasm created at this meeting brought many tryouts for membership in the following weeks and quite a number of new members were selected. The fall term was quite an interesting one under the leadership of Dorothy Sternberg, fall term president.

The winter term's work progressed with Helen Campbell as president. Selection of material for the annual Phil-Wright Contest was made and the contestants who were chosen began work. Those who took part in the contest were as follows: Clara Rasmussen and William Samp, debate; Ruth Bowman, extempore; Helen Campbell, oration; Anna Merle Robertson, reading; Everett Singleton, voice; and Verna Wasman, piano.

Wrightonian members were active in many of the literary events during the year. Helen Campbell won the Edwards Medal Contest in Oratory and first place at the oratorical contest held at Macomb. William Samp, Leo Lutz, and Laurence Nelson participated in the University of Illinois—Normal University Debates. Three of the organization's members, Clara Rasmussen, Helen Campbell and Glenn Taylor represented Pi Kappa Delta chapter at the Forensic tournament which was held at Lexington, Kentucky. Miss Campbell placed second at this contest. Clara Rasmussen took part in the Little Nineteen Oratorical Meet. William Samp and Glenn Taylor debated in the Interstate Intercollegiate Debate Tournament. Those of the society who were outstanding in dramatic productions of the year were: Dorothy Sternberg, Helen Campbell, Anna Merle Robertson, Jean Lux and Virginia Abbott.

Ruth Bowman made a very enthusiastic president in the spring term. The theme of Wrightonia's work this year might be termed as: How we can better our literary society in view of aiding our members and the university.

Wrightonia has carried on its good work this year in reaching its aim. The organization feels that much credit for any success is due to Mr. Harper, sponsor of the society, who has been a faithful leader giving very helpful guidance in the undertakings of the organization throughout the year.

THE STUDENT COUNCIL

"Some do—and some don't." Authorities of a school sometimes differ as to the possibilities, values, and purposes of a student council, but authorities of Old Normal have agreed, to a great extent, that the Student Council of 1933 and 1934 has completed two large projects of which they can be justly proud—namely: the opening and operating of a Student Lounge, and the reunion of a badly needed council constitution.

Shortly before Christmas the Student Council met with President Fairchild, Deans Barton and Linkins. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss the various means of securing a Student Lounge at I. S. N. U. With absolutely no funds with which to begin, chances were one hundred to one against success, but the Council emerged from that meeting with high hopes and great determination. After having convinced the administration that such a thing could be done, and having been assured of the whole-hearted support of that group, the council felt that Old Normal was well on her way to a Student Lounge.

Starting with a University Theatre scene shop, commonly called "The Dungeon," which was in very poor condition, the council raised sufficient funds to redecorate, refloor, and beautifully furnish the new Student Lounge. An all school assembly was sponsored for the purpose of acquainting the student body with the need and the purposes of a Student Lounge. Through contributions from faculty members and campus organizations, through movies, a dance, an operetta, a basket-ball game, and a tag day which enabled individuals to contribute any amount they wished, funds were secured, and work began. Today we have a finished Student Lounge, a far cry from that meeting of the Council, the President and the Deans only five short months ago, when the possibility of refurbishing one room to meet the social needs of the student body was discussed. The lounge is open to all students of the University, faculty members, and alumni, with a house committee, composed of four members of the Council, and a group of F. E. R. A. hostesses in charge.

A great deal of credit goes to President Fairchild, Dean Schroeder, Dean Barton, Dean Linkins, and Mr. Marsh, who so generously gave their aid in many different ways to assist the Council to achieve their goal of a Student Lounge for I. S. N. U.

During the winter term a committee was appointed by the Council president for the purpose of revising the ancient constitution to fit the needs of the present-day Council. At a later meeting the committee presented the revision to the Council and the new constitution was adopted.

Several minor projects have been accomplished, but here again "authorities differ."

APPORTIONMENT BOARD

The Board consists of five student and three faculty members. The former group includes Arthur Spafford, '35, and William McKnight, '35, elected in 1932; Clifford Scott, '34, elected in 1933; Virginia Clark, '35, elected in 1933 to fill the unexpired term of Margaret Carey, and Jean Wilder, '35, who fills the unexpired term of Ruby Van De Veer. Faculty members are President Fairchild and Professors Richard G. Browne and Howard W. Adams. Professor Adams has served as secretary since the organization of the Board in 1915. Miss Jennie A. Johnson is the accountant of the student activity fees. She receives the funds and makes disbursements from them on the basis of vouchers certified to by the faculty sponsor of the organization for which payment is made.

The Board has as its chief function the apportionment of the student activity fees to the various participating student organizations. These organizations are "all school" in character. Departmental student organizations do not receive money from the student activity fund. Athletic fees are not distributed by this Board. Distribution of funds to participating organizations is made on the basis of requests by the group receiving the allotment, and on the basis of need. This year two new apportionments were made providing the students with "free" Indexes and "free" movies.

An annual report of the fund is made to the Normal School Board. The money handled amounts to between $16,000 and $17,000.

Not only does the Apportionment Board administer activity fees collected during the autumn, winter and spring quarters, but also apportions the summer term fees. These amount to $1.50 per student. The 1933 summer term fees were distributed as follows: Varsity Club, .07; Womens' League, .07; Summer Operetta, .01; Convocations, .035; Band, .07; Lecture Board, 1.05. Apportionments for the summer of 1934 have not yet been made.

Prior to the Fall Quarter, 1932, it was the custom of the Board to vote stated sums of money to recipient organizations. The total amount apportioned at the opening of the scholastic year was based upon an estimate of the University attendance for the year. Often the attendance did not reach the number estimated with the result that the Board frequently found itself in the "red." Consequently a plan was worked out of apportioning to each organization a certain fraction of each fee collected. By this plan the Board no longer becomes obligated to an organization beyond its ability to pay.

Since the University requires the payment of the student activity fee by each student enrolling, it follows that the Normal School Board requires an accounting of all moneys collected and disbursed under the plan. The financial reports are made to the school board annually. For the year ending June 30, 1933, the report made by Miss Johnson showed receipts of more than $24,000, including a balance of nearly $3,000 carried over from the previous year. Expenditures from the fund approximated $20,500, leaving a cash balance of more than $3,500. Accompanying this report are data showing amounts of student activity fee money received by each participating organization, as well as expenditures for that organization.

ATHLETIC BOARD

The main functions of the Athletic Board are to approve the schedules of games submitted by the coaches for the various intercollegiate sports, and to vote upon the awards to be given. This year the letter awards were changed from the old eight inch letters to all-white six inch letters for the red sweaters and all-red six inch letters for the white captain sweaters. The Annual Fall-Sports Banquet, sponsored by the Board, was given on December 12, 1933, in Fell Hall for all football and cross-country men. Coach Bob Zuppke, from the University of Illinois, was the chief speaker. A large crowd enjoyed the banquet and program. Other speakers were Mr. Hudelson, President Fairchild, Coach Cogdal, Coach Hancock, and Mr. Harris. Mr. Harris presented the "Carter Harris Cup" to Paul Custer.

On June 6, 1934, the annual Luncheon-Dance was given by the Board in honor of Baseball, Tennis, Basketball, and Track teams at Maplewood Country Club. All Lettermen were eligible to attend.

FORENSIC BOARD

The Forensic Board sponsors the literary societies and assists the Theatre Board with its program. The annual International Debate is a Forensic Board project. Perhaps the most elaborate project carried on during the past year was the conducting of the second annual interstate intercollegiate debate tournament at Normal in which fifty-eight teams from five states participated in 173 debates, on January 25-27. Four debating teams were sent to Manchester, Indiana, in February, where they participated in a tournament similar to the one held at Normal. The Forensic Board also had teams participating in the twelve intercollegiate debates leading to Illinois champion teams. Normal debating teams met West Virginia University, Purdue University, and the University of Illinois during the year.

The Edwards Oratorical Contest, a local contest in public speaking and platform reading, was held as usual. The winners proceeded to a state teachers college contest.

Mr. Lewis Winegarner represented the Normal University in the annual teachers' college contest in extempore speaking.

UNIVERSITY THEATRE BOARD

The University Theatre Board is an advisory council which helps to determine and carry out the policies of the University Theatre. Each member supervises a particular branch of the theatre department, aiding those who are in charge of each individual play, and standing responsible for his department.

The Board is self-perpetuating, new members being chosen by Miss Allen on the advice of the retiring members. There are ten members on the Board. This year, they are business manager, Harry Cade; stage manager, Al Robinson; electrician, Glenn Taylor; scenic artist, Jean Snyder; costume mistress, Lillian Sage; property manager, Virginia Abbott; publicity director, Dorothy Sternberg; make-up chairman, Catherine Donaldson; President of Jesters, Clifford Scott; and President of Theta Alpha Phi, Wendell Oliver.

Members of the Theatre Board who served in that capacity for one year were awarded guards with the initials "U. T." to be worn with their Theta Alpha Phi or Jester pins. These pins were presented at the reception following the homecoming play last fall.

LECTURE BOARD

The Lecture Board is completing another successful season, this spring, by bringing to the campus several programs, which should be greatly enjoyed by the student body. Although the board has been working under great difficulties, namely, the lack of funds, the course for 1934 has proved quite successful. The course was opened in the fall by a Russian ballet troupe that had quite a novel arrangement of selections and which was, on the whole, greatly enjoyed. Later in the fall, Edward Howard Griggs, American Lecturer, gave a stimulating lecture on the "Philosophy of Life in the Present Day."

During the winter term, the largest and most appreciated number was obtained. The St. Louis Symphony Orchestra was of such quality that there was little doubt as to the success of its appearance.

The spring entertainment included Nathan Milstein, famous Russian violinist; the Ted Shawn Dancers with their marvelous interpretative numbers; and Miss Nadine Shepherdson, a reader obtained from Northwestern University. The audiences attending the numbers found them of unusual interest.

MEN'S DEBATE

The Men's Debating Squad made a gratifying record during the year. In early December, Clifford Scott and Wendell Oliver met two men from Cambridge University, England, on the question, Resolved: That the United States should adopt the British system of radio control.

In late December, an annual debate was held with the University of Illinois at Urbana. The men acquitted themselves well in the I. S. N. U. invitational debate tournament, which was held in January. All the men on the squad participated in from five to eight debates.

Four debating teams were sent to the Manchester, Indiana, debate tournament in February. Each team won three of the five debates in which it participated. Clifford Scott and Wendell Oliver, who composed the Normal first negative team, won all of their Illinois Inter-Collegiate Conference Debates. They defeated DeKalb, Bradley, and Greenville.

WOMEN'S DEBATE

During the regular debating season, the negative team composed of Alice Grush and Augusta Stevens won two debates out of three. The teams they debated came from North Central College, Augustana College, and DeKalb Teachers College.

Lilith Southgate and Barbara Turner were sent to debate in the National Pi Kappa Delta Tournament which was held in Lexington, Kentucky. They won three of the five debates in which they participated.

The young women were handicapped by the fact that they worked upon two questions. Miss Southgate and Miss Turner spoke upon the subject, Resolved: That the powers of the president should be substantially increased as a settled policy. The other members of the squad studied the topic; Resolved: That the federal government should provide substantial grants for use by the public elementary and secondary schools.

MAIZE GRANGE

The Maize Grange, a local chapter of the National Grange, the first fraternal farm organization in history, was organized on the campus of the Illinois State Normal University on June 4, 1930, by the Illinois State Master, E. A. Eckert. Meetings, at which outstanding speakers addressed the members, were held on the first and third Tuesdays of every month with a large attendance. Many social events were held during the year. On May 1, new members were initiated into the organization. The organization has a drill team which puts on very beautiful work at initiations and installations. The membership numbers sixty-three active members.

PRESS CLUB

The Press Club was organized five years ago by students who were interested in continuing informally their study of journalism. Membership is open to those students who have completed the course in journalism or have served on the staff of the Vidette.

Besides working with the staff on the stunt for the hobo parade at Homecoming and the publication of the "Weedette," the club has enjoyed addresses on journalistic subjects by its members and outsiders. Among those who have appeared on the program this year are John French, a senior, who returned to the campus during the winter term to complete requirements for a degree in education after studying for two years in the School of Journalism at the University of Missouri, and C. W. Orcutt, managing editor of the Daily Pantagraph of Bloomington.

Y. W. C. A.

The first student Y. W. C. A. in the world grew out of a prayer meeting, November 12, 1872, held by Mrs. Lida Brown McMurray, then a student of I. S. N. U.

The Young Women's Christian Association stands today as an interpreter of life to young women. It has undertaken a wonderful program of work which aims to help young women to grow socially, intellectually and spiritually into the finest type of womanhood.

This year Y. W. C. A. opened its extensive program of activities with an open house tea. The following Saturday a large group of girls enjoyed the Annual Walkout Breakfast. At Homecoming time Y. W. C. A. sponsored the Sunday morning Sunrise Service at the Christian Church with Dr. Nolan, of the University of Illinois, as speaker. The Recognition Service, a beautiful candle-light service, was held at Fell Hall as a formal recognition of new members. A most inspiring service was held in the form of a lantern parade one moonlight evening.

A Japanese sale of gifts for students was sponsored by Y. W. C. A. The residents of Fell Hall and Y. W. C. A. met for a White Gift Christmas Service. Singing of carols and telling of Christmas stories by Mrs. Turner made up the program.

NEWMAN CLUB

The Newman Club, named in honor of Cardinal Newman, the great Catholic scholar and churchman, is open to all Catholics on the campus. No initiation is held. Students may become members simply by attending the meetings and by paying the annual dues of seventy-five cents. Meetings are held on the second, sixth, tenth Thursday of each term in Wrightonia Hall at 7:30 P. M. In addition to the regular meetings, parties are held from time to time.

The chief purpose of the club is to bring the Catholics on the campus into closer social relationship. For the regular meetings entertaining and instructive programs are prepared by a student program committee. Once each year a guest speaker is heard. This year, Miss Grace Shea, of the faculty, read some of her own poems before the group.

The purely social parties of this year were the homecoming breakfast, the Christmas dance, and the post-lenten party and dance.

Since there is no Catholic church in Normal, the Newman Club assists the Catholic new students in becoming acquainted with Holy Trinity church services in Bloomington. This year the Newman Club members saw the opening of the beautiful new Holy Trinity church. The club of 1932-33 with five alumni presented one of the windows.

JESTERS

The Jesters, local dramatic society, was organized in 1913 by Miss Mildred Helen Felmley, who also designed the Jester pin. Membership, by invitation, is based on active interest in dramatics, shown by participation. The organization produces at least one full-length program each year. For the past two years The Jesters have presented, in Capen Auditorium a few days before the Christmas holidays, a Nativity play combining music and dramatic action and directed by Miss Janet K. Smith, instructor in art and sponsor of The Jesters. On both occasions, the aid of the Men's Glee Club and Miss Blaine Boicourt has been invaluable. Special setting and costumes are a feature of the Nativity productions, which are open to the public and students without charge. Funds from Jester plays have gone toward the purchase of the velour curtain in the Auditorium, draperies, lighting equipment, furniture, and a sewing machine, for use in staging plays.

BLACKFRIARS

The first production of its kind ever witnessed on the I. S. N. U. campus was presented by the Blackfriars on the evening of April 20. It was the long to be remembered musical comedy My Old Man, written and produced by Brothers Clarence R. Jackson and Richard Noble.

It seems that in paying for the New Deal, the United States had become heavily mortgaged to the Indians, and that they were about to buy the whole nation back from the white man for "twenty-four dollars and a pint of whisky." Kent Blundermore, (Roy Thompson) candidate for election to Congress had a plan whereby the menacing redskins would be sent back to their reservations. Upon reaching Congress, Blundermore aided by a most beguiling secretary, (Paul Hudelson) succeeded in getting the Indian representatives to sign a blank sheet of paper, which when filled in deprived the Indians of any claim to the United States.

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The Women's Athletic Association, the only athletic organization on the campus open to all the women of the school, meets a definite need at I. S. N. U. This year, under the leadership of Miss Marjorie Cook, president, and Miss Esther Hume, Faculty sponsor, the organization has offered an even more varied and complete program than even before.

Hockey and soccer were the major sports offered during the fall term, with tennis and archery taking a minor position.

The outstanding event of the fall term was the Women's Sports Day held October 21, 1933. About 75 girls from five different colleges attended, participating in the sports, hockey, soccer, volleyball, archery, and tennis. It is hoped that W. A. A. will be able to make the Women's Sports Day an annual affair.

W. A. A.'s intramural program during the winter term consisted of volleyball, tumbling, tapping, swimming, bowling, basketball and recreational games. The recreational games included ping pong, badminton, paddle tennis, and shuffle board.

On the social side, W. A. A. sponsored one party each term to which all the women of the school were invited.

WOMEN'S PHYSICAL EDUCATION CLUB

The Physical Education Club is composed of all the women in school who are majoring or minor-ing in Physical Education. This year a very interesting program has been enjoyed. In the fall the new members, freshmen, and transfers, led by their "big sisters" were taken on a hike. By the light of the camp fire, the new and impressive initiation ceremony was performed. A Home-coming Breakfast was given in honor of the alumni and was very well attended. At Christmas time a large party was given. Games were played, gifts received and refreshments served. Dr. Peairs, an orthopedic specialist, gave an illustrated lecture before the club. Miss Abraham, from the Withers Public Library of Bloomington gave an interesting talk about the work of Dr. Wilfred Grenfell in Labrador. At the beginning of the spring term a pot luck supper was enjoyed, after which recreational games were played. A joint meeting was held with the Home Economics club at which Mrs. Blakely, head of the McLean County public health nurses, talked. A program of music and dances followed the talk. At the end of the year a hike and wiener roast were given as a means of bidding farewell to the seniors.

The highest honor to be attained in the "N" Club is the Cardinal group to which a member may become elected if he has promoted, to the best of his ability, the purpose of the "N" Club.

The highlights of the year were: the "N" Club banquet held at the Y. W. C. A. which re-united the 1907 championship football team; the benefit basketball games to raise money for the "N" club and the student lounge; the "N" Club dance held at Fell Hall featuring Dale Miller's Orchestra; and the after-meeting social hours plan held in conjunction with the Women's Athletic Association.

ART CLUB

The Art Club was organized with Miss Clarissa Ela as first sponsor many years ago. The membership is open to all people electing art as a major or minor teaching field and to people having completed two courses in art who have proved an especial interest in the type of activities carried on by members of the organization. The new members are initiated at both a formal and an informal initiation. This year the informal initiation party was held at the home of the sponsor Miss Florence Tilton. Among the activities of the club are sketching trips, art programs, picnics, and dances. The Toonerville Trolley represented the club in the hobo parade last fall. Last spring they received second place in the Varsity Stunt Show with a living puppet show. On March thirty first the club held its first costume ball which they hope to make an annual event. Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Hinshaw of Wesleyan and members of the Bloomington Art Association were invited guests. Prizes for the best costumes went to Miss Evelyn Brown and to Robert Austin.

COMMERCE CLUB

Twenty years old—the Commerce Club can feel that it is almost old enough to vote, for it was in 1914 that it had its start under the guidance of Mr. Williams who was its sponsor during its infancy and early struggles.

Starting out with seven members, the club has grown with the Department, until the membership is now over one hundred.

Any person enrolled in the commerce curriculum, or who is starting the fourth term of a major in commerce is eligible for membership.

The aims of the club are to foster an interest in commercial teacher training, to create interest in phases of business, and to provide opportunities for wholesome social contacts which lead to better acquaintance among the members.

A successful year is due to the officers, to Martha Moore and her program committee, to Elzora Urban, treasurer of the spring term, and to a loyal membership which has supported all activities.

HIERONYMUS CLUB

The Hieronymus collegiate chapter of the American Country Life Association, organized on the I. S. N. U. campus in 1922 was named in the honor of Dr. R. E. Hieronymus. Dr. Hieronymus is a graduate of "Old Normal" and he has for many years been State Community Adviser with headquarters at the University of Illinois. The Chapter chooses its membership from students of sophomores standing or above because of their high scholastic record and manifested interest in community life. The purpose of the club is to study the conditions of rural community life and to develop leadership in community activities. An educational, sociological or recreational program is sponsored each month by a student committee. This club cooperates with other rural clubs in such projects as the annual corn show. One or more delegates and the club sponsor usually attend the annual American Country Life Convention.

LE CERCLE FRANCAIS

Chez Mlle. Raisbeck, on a joué à des jeux français et chacun a (racheté un gage) en récitant un poème. Chez Mlle. Mary Ricks, on a appris de vieilles chansons et rondes françaises: Frère Jacques, Au Clair de la Lune, et Sur le Pont d'Avignon. Chez Mlle. Maxine Coates, on a fait des mots en croix. On compte bien finir l'année en jouant au bridge chez M. John Schroeder.

Vous voyez qu'on s'amuse bien. Vive le Cercle français.

Parlez-vous français? Faites-vous membre du Cercle français. Vous ne savez pas ce que c'est? C'est un club composé de tous ceux qui s'intéressent à la langue et à la culture française. Tout élève qui a complété la première année de français de l'université, ou qui a fait deux ans d'études à l'école secondaire peut s'insérer. Le but du cercle est de permettre aux membres de se perfectionner dans la langue parlée.

The Home Economics Club was organized in 1924 with forty-eight charter members, under the sponsorship of Miss Rambo.

Miss Virginia Allen was representative of the club at the State Home Economics Association that met at the Medinah Athletic Club in Chicago.

The recreational activities of the year began with a reception for the freshmen students. At the annual Homecoming Banquet in October, Miss Hess and Miss Reed, State Supervisor of Home Economics Education, were guests of honor. The Christmas party took the form of a children's frolic to which all the "children" remembered to bring gifts for the needy. New members were initiated in the traditional manner at a beautiful candle-light service in the winter term.

A picnic closed the year's activities.

The Cyril G. Hopkins Agriculture Club completes its twelfth year on the campus this spring. The Hopkins Club membership is open to any boy on the campus taking courses in agriculture who has an interest in agricultural operations. Each year during the fall term initiation is held for new members, who become active members after the ceremony.

This year the club has been very active in sponsoring among its leading activities, the Homecoming Hobo Parade, the fall and spring Vocational Judging Contests, the McLean County Farm Bureau and Illinois State Normal University Corn Show, the Holbert Medal Contest and Banquet, a barn dance, and the Farewell Banquet.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS CLUB

The Industrial Arts Club is an organization of the Industrial Education department. This club has an active membership of forty students. During the school year the club has seen their programs successfully carried out through the leadership of Prof. C. M. Hammerlund, the sponsor, and Alfred Robinson, the club president.

Meetings are held on the first Tuesday of each month at 7:30 p. m. in room 45 of the Manuel Arts building.

Many interesting and educational trips were taken, among which were trips to various shops in Bloomington. Probably the most interesting trip was to a violin shop where the members observed a master craftsman at work.

During the Presidential Ball the club earned money by charging a nominal fee for the checking of hats and coats.

KINDERGARTEN CLUB

The Kindergarten Club, which was organized in 1917 by Miss Margaret E. Lee, is composed of students and faculty members of the Kindergarten department, and this year has had an enrollment of approximately 75 girls. The purpose of the organization is to discuss the problems relating to elementary education and to promote the social relationships of its members.

The Kindergarten Club has had a number of social functions this year, beginning with a tea given in September in the Kindergarten room.

For the fifth consecutive year, the Kindergarten Club placed in the Hobo Parade, winning fourth place this year with the presentation of "The Old Woman in the Shoe."

The Homecoming luncheon was held at the Maplewood Country Club.

The annual Kindergarten Club Valentine dance was held at Fell Hall, February tenth.

LATIN CLUB

The Latin Club is an organization to which all, who are interested in the study of Latin, the ancient Roman people, their customs and their religion, may belong. There are no scholastic requirements to be met before membership in the society can be gained. The club meets the third, seventh, and eleventh weeks of each term. At these meetings several papers on the various Roman customs and beliefs are read and discussed by the members. This year the society has been comparing the Roman religion and the Roman mythology. In this study the meetings have been spent on the Gods, Jupiter, Saturn, Diana, Apollo, Vesta and her virgins, Mars, and the various festivals. The Latin Club had its annual Christmas party the second week of the winter term. At this meeting there was the usual exchange of gifts, and there was a discussion of the Saturnolia, an ancient Roman festival which occurred in December.

LOWELL MASON CLUB

The close of the spring term completes the nineteenth year for the Lowell Mason Club on the Illinois State Normal University campus. This musical organization was formed for the furtherance of the interests of public school music on the campus, the maintenance of relations between old and active members, and the enjoyment and benefits derived by members from participating in and hearing programs of interest to music students. Those eligible for membership are students of the music curriculum, the director of the music department and his assistant, and honorary members whom the club chooses to elect. The club is named for the "Father of Public School Music". Meetings are held at intervals of two weeks on Wednesday evenings at seven-thirty.

At the beginning of the fall term an impressive candle-light initiation service was held for new members.

SCIENCE CLUB

The Science Club was founded on this campus in 1912 by the late Professor F. D. Barber. Membership in the organization is honorary, student members being nominated on the basis of scholarship and voted upon by the faculty members from the departments of agriculture, botany, chemistry, geography, home economics, physics, and zoology. The club has a three-fold purpose: to cultivate and foster interest in science, to enable its members to be conversant with modern trends in scientific fields, and to stimulate the members to advanced scientific study.

There are three regular meetings each term, programs being arranged by an Executive Board composed of the organization officers. A diversified program is planned by the board that each department may find something of especial significance to its respective field.

NATURE STUDY CLUB

The Nature Study Club of the University has experienced a most successful year under the guidance of the following officers: President, Mr. Donald Hughes; vice president, Miss Susan Barborinas; secretary, Miss Lucille Garretson and treasurer, Mr. Dwight Wilkey. Mr. J. E. Fraley, head of the department of Nature Study, is faculty sponsor of the club. The club has maintained a membership of over fifty students throughout the year. The year's activities were begun during the beginning of the fall quarter with an informal initiation for new members, a roller skating party at Edgewood and a trip to the World's Fair. Other interesting programs included an illustrated lecture on "Insect Immigrants" by Dr. William P. Hayes, Associate Professor of Entomology, University of Illinois; "The Zonation of Vegetation in the San Francisco Mountain Region" by Dr. Lathrop.

FRATERNITIES

To many college students the word fraternity is fraught with pleasant memories, recollections of happy and profitable times with college friends. There are many types of fraternities. Some are chiefly social, others are honor societies, while still others emphasize professional aims. Practically all well-known fraternities are founded on worth-while principles and are designed to foster high ideals.

No organization rises higher than the level of its own membership. The members of any society, what they are and the work they accomplish, determine the character of the fraternity. No mystic signs or secret symbols can be of any avail unless the membership embody in themselves the meaning and purposes for which the fraternity exists. Illinois State Normal University is fortunate in having on its campus many splendid organizations. Most, if not all, of its organizations are imbued with the spirit of service, and that is surely the most valid reason for the existence of a fraternity.

As in anything else in life, the value of belonging to a fraternity depends on what one puts into it of time, energy and interest. Besides stimulating one's thoughts and sentiments toward high ideals of service, it can become a means of developing a higher degree of social adjustment and fellowship. As the name fraternity implies, its primary function is to give to its members a deeper meaning, and a more intensive experience of the term brotherhood.

GAMMA PHI

In its fifth year of existence the Alpha chapter of Gamma Phi has been even more active than formerly in its efforts to promote interest in physical education at home and in surrounding territory, and to honor gymnastic ability among students of Illinois State Normal University. At least a score of appearances have been made to further physical educational programs in various schools of the state and to provide entertainment of a somewhat unusual nature for different organizations in this and other communities.

The annual Gamma Phi Gym Circus, which continues to be one of the outstanding attractions of the school year, was staged and directed by a committee of the members of the organization this year. This, and the fact that only school talent was used, marked a departure from the two previous years. In the election of Miss Ruth Pritchett as Circus Queen the student body indicated an appreciation of one of the most attractive and popular women on the campus.

The organization was particularly fortunate in again having for its sponsor Mr. C. E. Horton; much of the success of Gamma Phi is due to his capable and helpful direction.

PI GAMMA MU

The Social Science Club was founded at Illinois State Normal University in 1929 and became the Illinois Theta Chapter of the national social science honor fraternity, Pi Gamma Mu, in 1930. Pi Gamma Mu and the Social Science Club meet and function as one organization and have only one set of officers. Pi Gamma Mu is an honor society for students of Social Science, as its name implies, since it comes from the Greek words meaning Students of Social Science. There are about twenty members on the campus this year. During the year fifteen new members joined the organization.

On October 28, Pi Gamma Mu held its annual Homecoming Banquet which was well attended by alumni members and friends. Talks were given by various Homecomers. On December 14, the first meeting of the winter term, a combination bridge party and business meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Marie Hammerlund. On February 20, Theta Chapter held a dinner meeting in Bloomington. At this time Dr. Heineman from the social science department at the University of Illinois addressed the organization.

KAPPA DELTA EPSILON

Kappa Delta Epsilon, national professional education sorority, has completed its first year as a national sorority.

To further the homecoming spirit Kappa Delta Epsilon and Kappa Phi Kappa decorated a house, and held a homecoming luncheon at the Hotel Tilden-Hall. A party for guests was given at Fell Hall in November. Eighteen girls were pledged in December and were initiated later. In February the club enjoyed a bob-sled ride. Regular meetings have been held on the second, fifth, eighth, and eleventh weeks of each term in the Women's Lounge. On April 21, in the Hotel Tilden-Hall occurred the Founder's Day Banquet at which Dr. Nell Waldron talked on "Education in the Philippine Islands." Uarta Hubbard is president and Miss Mary Webb is sponsor.

KAPPA DELTA PI

Kappa Delta Pi is an Honor Society in Education, established at the University of Illinois in 1911. There are now ninety-one chapters in thirty-seven states with a total membership of 22,000. Dr. W. C. Bagley of Columbia is called the "Father of Kappa Delta Pi."

Mu Chapter was installed at I. S. N. U. in 1922, with some of the present instructors as charter members. Membership in the organization is based on general scholarship and personal qualifications.

Kappa Delta Pi held its first formal initiation this year at Homecoming time, when the following people were initiated: Verna Freemore, Maxine Maginnis, Martha Moore, Dorothy Moyle, Jessie Shirk, Jean Snyder, and Helen Voltmer.

Kappa Delta Pi has held two open meetings this year at which Dean Schroeder gave talks on phases of philosophy.

KAPPA MU EPSILON

Kappa Mu Epsilon is a national honorary mathematics fraternity. Through the efforts of Professor C. N. Mills, the Illinois Alpha chapter was installed at the Illinois State Normal University, January 26, 1933.

The organization has two open program meetings each term for any one interested in mathematics. The programs consist of student presentation of topics that are not generally considered in the class room. Several social gatherings have been held during the past year.

The initiation at Fell Hall, March 24, 1934, of pledges and alumni into active membership, followed by a banquet in the evening at Hotel Rogers, was the premier event of the year. Professor E. H. Taylor of Charleston, Illinois gave the address on this occasion.

KAPPA PHI KAPPA

Kappa Phi Kappa, National Professional Men's Educational Fraternity, completes its fourth successful year on the campus this spring.

The fundamental purpose of the fraternity is to promote the cause of education by encouraging men of sound moral character and recognized ability to engage in the study of its principles and problems. The fraternity early recognized the value of a dynamic education, an ever changing, ever improving, ever increasing, ever renewing philosophy, the wisdom of which is recognized by all prominent educators today. Change usually comes from efficient young men whose training and background is adequate enough to give them a full knowledge and perception of the best method of progress. It is the purpose of Kappa Phi Kappa to produce such men, men who will be leaders in education throughout the nation.

Kappa Phi Kappa has taken an active part in campus activities during the year. Its members are to be found in every branch of study and activity on the campus.

PI OMEGA PI

Pi Omega Pi is a national honorary commerce fraternity whose purpose is to promote interest in the commercial field and to stress three important aims in the teaching profession: service, loyalty, and progress. Theta Chapter of Pi Omega Pi was first organized on this campus on June 3, 1928. In order to become a member of this fraternity one must have a high scholastic standing in both commercial and other subjects.

This year we have had both social and business meetings, including two programs which we presented before the Commerce Club. The active members have spent a great deal of time in publishing a news bulletin including news about the campus. This bulletin was sent out to all alumni members. Ernestine Wene and Ruth Bowman were sent as delegates to our national convention held at Cincinnati.

The Homecoming banquet was a big event of the year where old acquaintances were renewed. The annual spring banquet will be held commencement week.

THETA ALPHA PHI

Membership in the Illinois Delta Chapter of Theta Alpha Phi, National Honorary Dramatic Fraternity, is the highest honor which can be conferred upon an undergraduate actor on the campus of Illinois State Normal University. This chapter was organized on April 10, 1926.

Each year the organization sponsors one of the major productions in the University Theatre. On the nights of March 29 and 30 was given the three act play "Berkeley Square" written by John L. Balderston.

Theta Alpha Phi encourages appreciation of the drama not only by actual production, but also by entertaining those people who are interested in the drama. This year the group has cooperated with Jesters and the University Theatre Board in giving receptions and teas for visitors to the University Theatre productions, guests of the lecture board, and contestants in the high school one-act play tournament which was held in the spring.

PI KAPPA DELTA

The Illinois Eta Chapter of Pi Kappa Delta, national honorary forensic fraternity, is located at Illinois State Normal University. The Chapter promotes the interests of inter-collegiate oratory, debate and public speaking by conferring upon deserving candidates a badge of distinction, proficiency and honor.

During the year members of the chapter have been active in speech activities of the university, including the Phil-Wright contest, the Edwards Medal contest, the Teachers College Oratorical Meet, and the intercollegiate debates. The Men's negative inter-collegiate debate team, Clifford Scott and Wendell Oliver, both members of Pi Kappa Delta and of the Philadelphia Literary Society, were undefeated in conference competition. Helen Campbell placed first in oratory in the Teachers College meet and won the degree of special distinction of ranking second in the national convention oratory contest.

ATHLETICS

The identification of colleges by their varying degrees of athletic prowess is a comparatively new development. Long before gigantic stadiums and gymnasia existed on college campi there was a hardy development of athletics, intramural and personal.

The color and pageantry of modern athletics is indeed fascinating. Whether the scene is a conference championship football game or an intramural tennis match, whether the snow is flying or the sun scorching, there is always the quality of excitement and breathlessness.

But this is not the only contribution of athletics to college life; nor, perhaps, is it even the most important. Behind this display are fundamental elements necessary and desirable even in the most commonplace paths of life. There is a mental alertness, an indomitable spirit, a healthy enthusiasm, and a sense of fairness which emanates from well chosen athletic activities, and affects everyone from the smallest boy to the gravest student. And so with its dash and virility and enthusiasm, athletics arouse us from our academic lethargy.

We are frequently reminded that books are a bloodless substitute for living. Likewise, without athletics college life would, indeed, be an anaemic thing.

COACH HANCOCK

With twelve lettermen returning to the fold, the hopes for a successful football season were very high, although the Birds faced one of the most pretentious schedules attempted by a Normal team in a number of years.

The following lettermen reported: Co-Captains Neill and Sleevar, Bennington, Ward, Rutledge, Kuhfuss, Dennis, Meyers, Lewis, Custer, Murray and H. Adams. New men who reported were Boll, Rashke, Jameson, Jabsen, A. Miller, Cahal, Carroll and Grimes.

Coach Hancock's charges completed the season with seven conference wins and only two defeats. The past season was the most successful on the gridiron in more than two decades.

To Howard J. Hancock, Athletic Director, goes much of State Normal's success in the athletic world, Coach Hancock, former Wisconsin University athlete, is an inspiring leader and a builder of men.

The Normal Junior Varsity under the direction of Coach Eugene Hill sailed through to a second undefeated season. The Fledglings defeated the Charleston "B" Team twice: The first game ended 12-0, the second encounter saw the Birds again on top by a 25-0 score. The "B" team closed its successful season by beating Macomb Juniors 19-0.

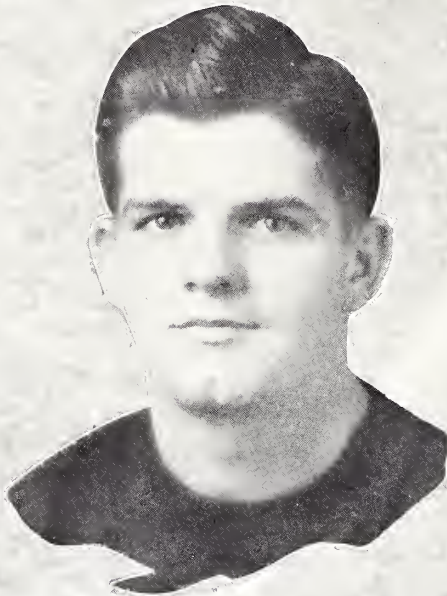

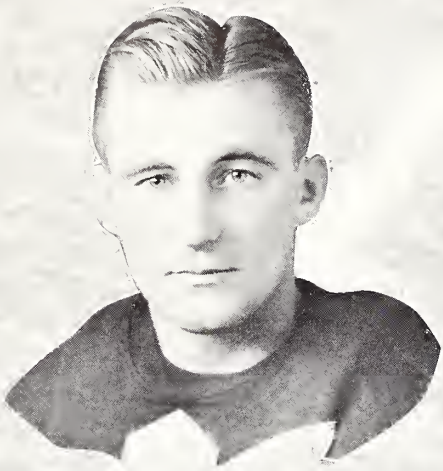

Harold Frye, a graduate of Akron University, is assistant football coach. Mr. Frye has been a member of the coaching staff for three years and has been very valuable in training the Normal backfield men. Eugene L. Hill, a graduate of Normal University, is the coach of the Junior Varsity. Under Mr. Hill's guidance the Junior Varsity has swept through two seasons without defeat.

Mr. Carter Harris, a member of Normal University's Janitorial department, and one of the most ardent sports enthusiasts on the campus last fall donated a trophy to be awarded every year to the most valuable football player on the team. The trophy is to be presented at the conclusion of each grid campaign to the player selected by his teammates as the most valuable, and the trophy is to remain in his possession for one year. Paul Custer, a sophomore, from Bloomington was awarded the trophy for the 1933 campaign.

Valparaiso 26; State Normal 0 September 23

The Birds journeyed to Hoosierland but were repulsed by the more experienced behemoths from Valparaiso University. Outweighed nearly ten pounds per man, the Normal team battled valiantly but could not stop the opposing power plays.

September 30 De Kalb 7; Normal 19

Staging an eighty yard march the Birds shoved over a counter right at the start and coasted to victory. Boll and Murray were the big offensive guns along with Herb Adams and Jabsen. Murray scored the first touchdown and kicked the extra point; Adams and Jabsen each plunged over for a touchdown to complete the rout. De Kalb scored as a result of a Normal fumble. McGlostian, halfback, scored the counter and Grant kicked the extra point.

October 7 Normal 40; Illinois Military 0

Coach Hancock used over forty men in the rout, and each combination clicked. The Military Academy fought hard but could not cope with the Cardinals. Herb Adams scored two touchdowns, Cahal collected two, Sleevar got one and Johnny Sheehan scored one. Les Murray booted three successive points through the uprights, and Cahal notched one.

October 14 Normal 32; Charleston 6
"Murray Runs Wild Over Charleston." These headlines tell the tale. Murray accounted for twenty-six points and Cahal scored the other touchdown. Normal team looked like a sure championship team. Coach Hancock used every man on the squad and every player gave a good account of himself. Funkhouser scored E. I's. marker as a result of a pass.

October 21 Normal 27; Eureka 0
Birds head the Parade! As a result of a smashing 27-0 triumph over the Red Devils, the gridders went into first place in Conference standings.

On a muddy, rainy day the Birds captured the abbreviated contest with very little effort. Darkness halted the game at the end of the third quarter. Lewis and Dennis starred for the Birds although the entire line looked good. Scoring—touchdowns: Boll, Murray, Custer, Cahal. Try-for-goal: Boll, Murray, Cahal.

Homecoming! October 28
Carbondale 0; Normal 12

Before the largest crowd ever gathered on McCormick Field, Normal defeated the Egyptians. The first three-quarters was a battle between the lines of the two teams. In the fourth quarter Boll smashed through tackle to score. Murray duplicated the feat a few minutes later and the large crowd went away happy. Holder, fleet Southern back, proved troublesome to the Birds.

November 4 Macomb 7; Normal 26
The Birds scored in every period to remain in first place in the State Conference Race. The win also set the stage for the Wesleyan game. Murray scored 14 points and took the lead in Little Nineteen Individual scoring race. The Normal team bottled up the Leathernecks famed passing attack and vaunted their own running attack. Scoring—touchdowns: Boll, Murray, Cahal, Brady (Macomb). Try-for-goal: Murray 2, Doyle (Macomb).

November 11 Wesleyan 19; Normal 0
Normal lost its first conference game to Wesleyan. A plucky, courageous, little red-clad team battled and fought to the end but were forced to yield to the Wesleyan giants. A blocked punt was converted into a touchdown before the game was five minutes old. Henry scored and Weger made two nice runs to score the other markers.

November 18 McKendree 9; Normal 0
The ailing Red Birds dropped their last game of the season to McKendree's Bearcats. Andy Jabsen played brilliantly for the Red Birds. It was the last game for Co-Captains Neill and Sleevar, Rashke, Grimes, Kuhfuss, and Bennington are the departing veterans.

"B" SQUAD

The Normal Junior Varsity defeated the Panther Cubs from Charleston 12-0 in the opening game of a three game schedule. The first score came early in the first quarter when Bud Carter recovered a Normal fumble beyond the goal line.

Late in the fourth quarter Johnnie Dohm smashed over for Normal's second touchdown. After Murphy had intercepted a pass and returned it ten to the ten yard line.

Murphy, W. Evans and Jim Elbert made the best showing for Normal.

Charleston was defeated again this time by a score of 25-0. The win marked Normal's second consecutive triumph.

Suds Reid, Varsity track man, was the outstanding man on the field. The "Blond Flash" turned in two beautiful runs of over 60 yards each and scored three of the Birds touchdowns. Reid's punting was also a big factor, one of his punts was recorded at 65 yards.

Jack Curtis, veteran of the Junior Varsity, for the past three years, showed plenty of speed and scored the other Normal tally. The "B" team line played good ball, driving in viciously and the line blocked three Charleston punts during the course of the play.

The Charleston Panthers had an 8-6 advantage on first downs but they never seriously threatened the Normal goal-line.

Coach Gene Hill's junior varsity eleven completed their season in a blaze of glory by bumping of Macomb's "B" team 19-0.

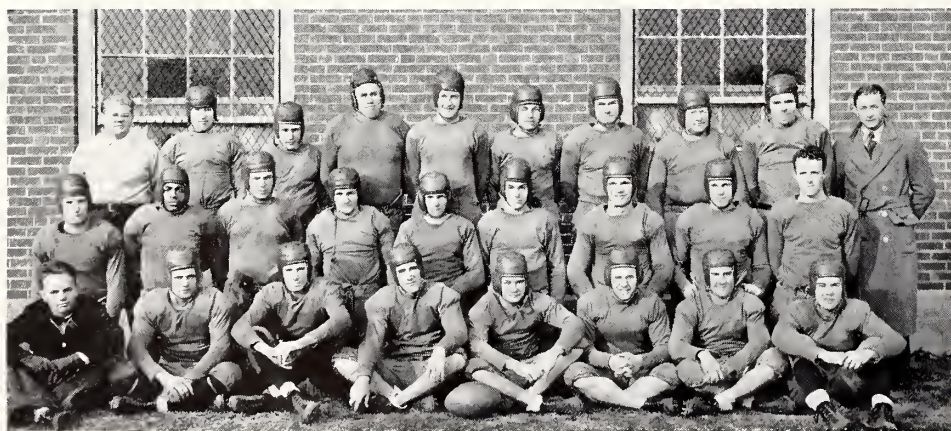

"Gene" Rodegheiro, the Livingston flash cantered around right end for twenty-nine yards early in the first quarter for the first counter. Rodegheiro was unmolested and crossed the goal line standing.

Late in the third quarter a beautiful pass from Rodegheiro to "Suds" Reid accounted for the second tally. "Johnny" Dohm plunged through center to account for the point after touchdown.

Reid scored the final touchdown when he spun through tackle, broke loose and ran twenty-eight yards to cross the Westerner's goal line. The try for point was unsuccessful.

Reid and Rodegheiro were Normal's outstanding offensive performers while Collins played a whale of a defensive game.

The undefeated season marked the second straight year that Coach Hill has piloted his charges through unscathed.

CROSS COUNTRY

JOHN ROBERTS

State Normal's 1933 Cross Country team upheld the hill and dale prestige that has for some years been associated with the representatives of the red and white. The team, coached by Joe Cogdal and led by Lyle Hutton, made its presence felt in every meet entered, and succeeded in running away with the Little Nineteen title for the third consecutive year.

Early in September, Coach Cogdal issued the call for long distance runners. Lyle Hutton undertook the task of captaining the squad, and under his care they were subjected to rigid training rules. Besides Hutton, five lettermen returned: Bill Bremer, Bob Foster, "Cappy" Middleton, "Red" Forbes and Herb Jackson.

Three weeks of tough road work, which included little jogs to the airport, trips around the town, and laps and laps around the cinder track gradually put the fellows in condition.

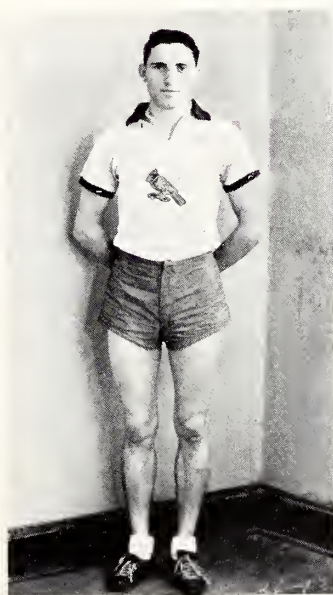

The University of Illinois harriers were scheduled for the first meet, which was held at Champaign. A blemish was put on Old Normal's enviable record when the boys bowed to the Blue and Gold runners. In a fast finish Hutton was boxed in by Galland and Dufresne of Illincis. Despite the defeat the Redbirds showed promise of rounding into a championship team.

The Cogdalmen entrained for Jacksonville the next week end, October 13, without Captain Hutton, who was nursing a sore side. In the absence of Hutton, Bill Bremer took things in hand and succeeded in tying for first place with Moore of Illinois College. Normal won the meet 23½ to 34½. Bremer's time was 16:50 for the 2 6-10 mile course. Middleton, Forbes and Foster clinched the meet for the Redbirds by coming in fourth, fifth and sixth, respectively.

Saturday, October 21, the Birdie Harriers outclassed Wheaton with a 19-36 win. Hutton, after a two weeks lay off won first place handily by running the 3.75 mile course in 21:11. Bremer, Forbes and Foster finished after their captain in that order. The thrilling race in this meet was staged by Captain Hannah of Wheaton and May of Normal in a battle for fifth place.

Western State Teachers of Kalamazoo, Michigan furnished the opposition for the Birdie harriers in their homecoming race run between the halves of the Carbondale-Normal football game. Hutton brought the large crowd to its feet in the finish, winning the three mile course in the fast time of 15:31, just ahead of Bill Bremer. Fifth, sixth and seventh places went to Middleton, Foster and Forbes in that order. Normal showed championship form to homecomers in winning this, their third consecutive meet.

CAPT. LYLE HUTTON

Normal further demonstrated its calibre by placing second in the Loyola Invitational meet at Chicago, November 4. Lyle Hutton, the "Savannah flyer", won individual honors by stepping the course in 18:37.8, which was good time for the 3 5-8 mile course. This marked the third meet win for Normal's captain at Loyola. The University of Illinois won team honors with thirty points. Normal was second with fifty-three. North Central was far behind, but won third place with one hundred five points. Bremer placed fifth, Forbes thirteenth, Middleton fourteenth, and May twen-tieth.

After making a good showing at Chicago the week before, the Cogdalmen came back to Normal and made a better one before the home crowd by taking the Little Nineteen title for the third consecutive time. Hutton broke his own record for the 3.54 mile course. He was clocked in 18:13, forty seconds ahead of Bremer, who placed second, Foster was tenth, Forbes fifteenth, and Jackson sixteenth. Normal won the event with forty-four points. North Central placed second with seventy-five.

BASKETBALL

JOHN R. WHITE

When Coach J. T. Cogdal issued the opening basketball call, six veterans answered. Captain "Pim" Goff, Herb Adams, Johnny White, Ed Fitzgerald, Wilbur Barton and Dale Davis were the returning squadmen from the 1932-33 Redbird team, that was only a mediocre aggregation. New men that developed and seemed to be ready for the campaign were Don Adams and Glen Jacquat, freshmen from University High, Vincennes Bowers, Leland Rhodes, and Leonard Keefe. Joe Jacobson was added to the squad when he became eligible in January.

The pre-conference season opened at McCormick Gymnasium Dec. 16 when the State Normal tossers defeated the Bloomington Commercials 18-15. The entire Normal team looked good with Barton and Fitzgerald dividing scoring honors.

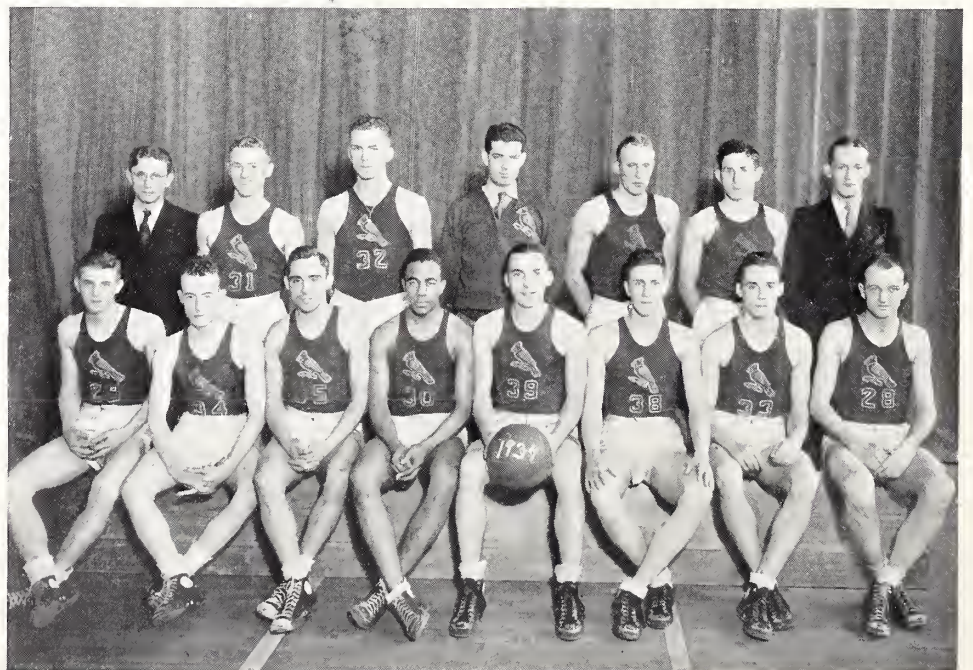

The Red Birds then dusted off the Milwaukee State Teachers, and Oshkosh Teachers in order. Normal defeated Milwaukee at Normal by a score of 26-23. Goff, Barton and Fitzgerald counted most of the points.

In the Oshkosh game Coach Cogdal gave fourteen Red Birds a chance to show their wares. Normal won an easy 29-21 victory over the Wisconsin Pedagogues. Goff scored seven baskets to pace the Red Birds.

During the Christmas vacation Normal suffered its first defeat of the Coach Joe T. Cogdal has done a remarkable job with the basketball team. "Pim" Goff was the outstanding performer on the team but outside of the phenomenal southpaw, Coach Cogdal had only fair material but Mentor Joe built up a smooth-working machine that finished in a tie for fifth place in the conference.

During Coach Cogdal's regime at Normal, the Red Birds have notched the only Conference basketball championship that has come to Normal. This feat was accomplished in 1930-31 when Coach Cogdal piloted the team through a strenuous schedule to finish in first place.

Coach Cogdal has done a fine piece of work and turned a season, that promised to be only fair, into a highly successful season.

season, losing to the strong Washington University team from St. Louis, 32-28. "Herb" Adams, "Wart" Jacquat and Fitzgerald shone for the Cardinals, but could not keep up with the long shot barrage of Martinton and Waysack, who collected 18 points between them.

The Birds then embarked on the Northern trip into Wisconsin, and proceeded to lose to Oshkosh 28-26, and suffered still another bitter defeat at Milwaukee 32-31. This game closed the pre-conference season and gave the Birds a record of three wins against three defeats for the early season games.

A tired bunch of basketeers journeyed to Jacksonville January 11 to meet the highly towtd Illinois College team in the opening Little Nineteen Conference game. The team showed plainly the wearing effects of the Wisconsin trip and lost a 21-31 decision. This was the worst defeat suffered by the Cardinals during the entire season.

The Normal Club won its first conference start by smashing the Eureka Christians at Eureka, 38-23. Goff and Fitzgerald rolled up 23 points between them although, Herb and Don Adams, White, and Jacquat, all played creditable ball.

Two nights later the Red Birds continued their winning ways by soundly trouncing St. Viator 49-32. Coach Cogdal used fourteen men, with twelve of them breaking into the scoring lineup. Fitzgerald sank seven baskets to lead the scorers.

The hard luck that haunted the Cogdalites started at Charleston January 23. The Birds lost a 42-40 decision to the Charleston panthers. Trailing by a score of 15-26 at the half, Normal put on a great rally but could not quite overcome the lead. The small Charleston floor was a handicap and the Charleston team was red hot. "Pim" Goff collected seven baskets and four free throws and played a wonderful all-around game.

"Redbirds show power in whipping DeKalb". The power was supplied by Herb Adams who scored five points and held Benny Westlake, Northern Ace, without a field goal. Besides the great defensive exhibition of Adams, Barton, Goff and Fitzgerald all played fine offensive games to notch the 27-24 upset victory.

A smoothly functioning Normal team journeyed across Sugar Creek to meet the much "ballyhooed" Wesleyan Titans and were forced to accept the short end of a 42-40 decision. The game was a heart-breaker to lose inasmuch as Normal led all of the way through by scores of 12-3, 21-16, 27-20, and 35-30. The Red Birds were victims of the mental lapses of two officials. Herb Adams and "Pim" Goff played brilliantly. Adams collecting fourteen points. Fitzgerald, Barton and White also looked good at times. Normal received plenty of breaks but they were all bad ones.

State Normal jumped back into the win column by swamping Eureka at McCormick Gym February 2 to the tune of 38-25. "Pim" Goff was on the sidelines due to illness, but Jacquat, Don Adams, and Herb Adams, made up for the Captain's absence by leading the scorers for the evening.

Our old friends from Wesleyan notched another victory over Normal in the return engagement at the McCormick Gymnasium by a 30-27 margin. "Pim" Goff bagged seven baskets in the first half to give Normal a commanding lead, but the Fighting Titans came back strong and snatched a last minute victory from the Birds. The old Jinx that pursued the Birds all season was very much in evidence.

Charleston was trounced on the sixteenth of February, by the Birds 36-29. Normal furnished a stubborn defense and with Goff, Don Adams, Fitzgerald and Jacquat hitting the basket consistently, the Cogdalites were not to be denied.

two years. The game was a brilliant defensive battle and the Normal defense put up by White, H. Adams, Barton, Goff, and Fitzgerald, Coupled with the offensive work of Goff and Fitzgerald, was just too much for the powerful Southern aggregation.

With Captain Goff taking complete charge of the giant "Too-tall" Lassiter, the Normal crew trounced Illinois College 27-22 at McCormick Gymnasium to avenge an early season defeat suffered at the hands of the Illinois College Blueboys. It would be hard to name any individual stars, as the whole Normal team played as a unit although Goff was a powerhouse on defense.

In the first game of the road trip, Normal lost a 31-30 game to the 1933-34 Little Nineteen Champions—DeKalb. The score was tied twelve times during the bitter struggle and it was by the single margin of one questionable free throw that the Northerners notched the verdict. Herb Adams again bottled Westlake up without a basket and turned in a brilliant exhibition of basketball. Adams collected eight points, and Barton made nine points for offensive honors. Skoglund, DeKalb guard, was the big thorn in the side of the Cardinals. The blonde guard hit six baskets for DeKalb.

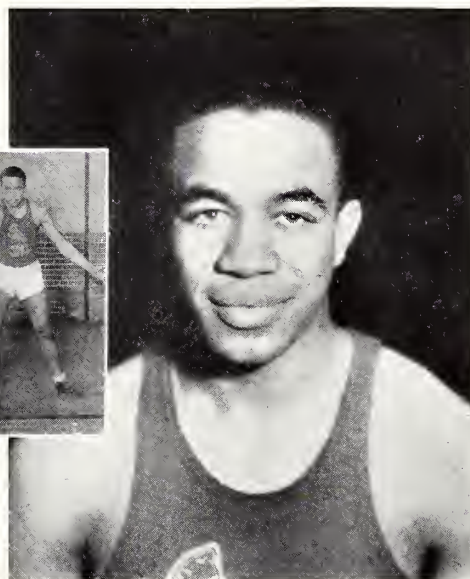

The Western State Teachers were subdued by the Normal tossers in a bitter struggle at Macomb February 26. The Normal cage team won a 42-40 struggle which was featured by the sensational basket shooting of "Wart" Jacquat and Ed. Fitzgerald.

The Cogdal clan closed the season in a blaze of glory by trouncing the St. Viator Irishmen 29-26. Captain Goff, playing his last game in a Normal uniform, bagged six baskets and one free throw, while Barton picked up eight points. The victory gave Normal a record of nine wins against five defeats in the conference schedule, and gave Normal fifth place in the Little Nineteen Conference standings.

The Red Birds were decidedly a hard-luck team. A margin of five points separated Normal from first place and their fifth place position.

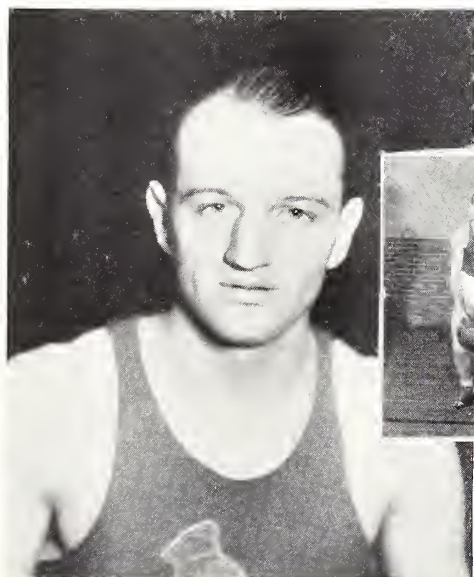

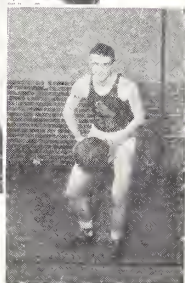

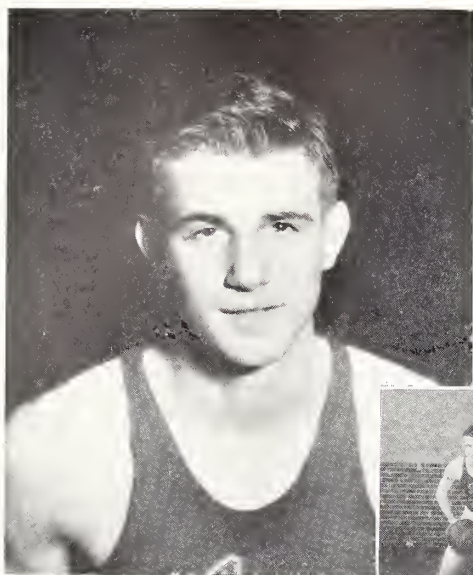

The varsity "N" was awarded to Captain James Goff, Herbert Adams, Edward Fitzgerald, John White, Wilbur Barton, Donald Adams, Glen Jacquat and Dale Davis. Goff is the only man lost by graduation but this will leave a gaping hole in the Normal ranks.

"Pim" Goff led the Normal team in scoring with 120 points and Fitzgerald was second with 97 points.

B TEAM

State Normal's "B" Team sailed through an eight game schedule on the hardwood without losing a single encounter. The Junior Varsity under the guidance of Assistant Coach Eugene Hill notched two victories over Charleston, two over the Wesleyan "B" team, two over the Lincoln Junior College outfit and two over the Springfield Junior College aggregation.

The Hill men started the season by snatching a 32-31 decision from the Charleston Junior Varsity. Don Smith's basket in the last twenty-five seconds of play accounted for the winning margin. Smith and Lyons were the offensive stars of the encounter.

The second game was won at the expense of Wesleyan's "B" team. The score was 31-23. Smith, Alfeldt and Lyons were the "big guns" in the attack netting 21 points between them.

Springfield was the third foe and Normal defeated the Capital City team 35-6 holding the Junior College to but one field goal. Hanes and Sheehan provided the spark in the offense while the whole team played brilliant defensive ball.

The Fledgelings won their fourth game of the season from Lincoln 40-19. Joe Alfeldt rang up 14 points to hog the honors for the evening.

Wesleyan was trounced again 30-25 in a fast encounter. The Normal crew plated brilliantly as a team.

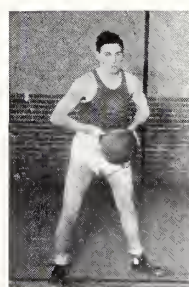

Springfield was defeated easily 38-16 and the Birds were riding high with six victories under their wings.

The fast stepping Jay-Vees won Number seven from Charleston "B's" 28-23. Don Smith collected fifteen points, Alfeldt and Sheehan also played nice ball games.

The Red Bird Juniors finished the season by beating Lincoln Junior College 24-18. Alfeldt came through in the last half with four baskets to put the game on ice.

State Normal has reason to be proud of its undefeated Junior Varsity. The personnel of the teams was: Joe Alfeldt, Livingston; Roland Lyons and John Sheehan, Peoria; Winfield Bates, Odell; Lionel Bevans, Gilman; Howard Taylor, Normal; Horace Hanes, Normal; Peterson, Kile and Finrock.

JOHN R. WHITE

The baseball season started with a scarcity of lettermen reporting. Captain Grimes, Ex-Captains Ahearn and Kuhfuss, Goff, Alfeldt, Murdock, and White were the veterans reporting. Fuller, Boll, Neatherton, Rutledge and Neill, squadmen of last year, completed the list of old guards. Rodeghiero, Gelsomino, Dohm, Jacquat, Jacobson, Carroll, Allen, and McKay are new men that have shown promise.

Coach Hancock has been using a team composed of both Neil and Dohm, catchers, with Murdock also seeing duty. Ahearn and Goff compose the pitching staff, assisted by "Scotty" Carroll and Ken Fuller. Bill Kuhfuss has been playing first base, White and Boll alternate at second, Rodeghiero and Neatherton battle for the shortstop position, and "Red" Alfeldt is the third baseman. Captain Grimes, Jacobson, Gelsomino and Allen, Rutledge, Stephens, Burns and Jacquat, are all outfield candidates with Grimes, Jacobson and Gelsomino slated for the regular births.

The Red Birds have won five consecutive games, defeating the University of Wisconsin twice and knocking off DeKalb and Charleston.

Normal defeated Wisconsin in the opening game of the season 5-3 behind the sterling pitching of James "Pim" Goff. The Normal ace let the Badgers down with six hits and struck out seven of the Wisconsin sluggers. The Birds scored two runs in the second inning, two in the sixth, and one in the eighth.

In the second game of the series, the Normal club again took the measure of the Big Ten team from Wisconsin, Russ Ahearn, the little left-hander from Kinsman, came through with a glittering pitching exhibition, whiffing ten men and quelling a rally in the ninth to notch a 4-3 decision.

The Red Birds bunched runs in the third and fifth. In the third inning Alfeldt was safe on a fielder's choice, White singled, and both Alfeldt and White scored on a timely double delivered by Joe Jacobson. In the fifth inning Boll walked, Jacobson singled, Grimes walked, and Boll and Jacobson scored on a single by Bill Kuhfuss.

Wisconsin scored three runs in the fourth on a walk and two hits. The Birds annexed their third straight victory and their first conference win at the expense of DeKalb. Normal won a 10-3 victory in thirteen innings.

Normal scored its first run in the sixth on hits by Jacobson and Kuhfuss. The Birds scored two more in the seventh when Goff lived on an error and scored ahead of Alfeldt, who smashed out a home run.

De Kalb scored one run in the fifth, another in the sixth and forced the game into extra innings by tying the count in the ninth.

Normal scored seven runs in the thirteenth inning. White and Dohm singled, and Goff netted three runs by smashing a home run into deep center-field. Alfeldt followed by smashing out a homer, his second of the day. Hits by Rodegheiro and Jacobson and a walk by Grimes coupled with two De Kalb errors produced three more runs.

Goff and Alfeldt were the stars of the contest. Alfeldt led the hitters with four safeties out of seven trips, including his two homers. Jacobson also came through with some nice hitting.

The Cardinals annexed their fourth consecutive victory at the expense of Charleston. The team from Eastern Illinois State Teachers College gave the Birds a real score, and Normal barely sneaked through to win a 9-6 decision.

Goff set a new Little Nineteen record by striking out nineteen men. The Normal portsider was invincible after the second inning. The hitting of Goff, Grimes, and Jacobson featured the Normal win.

It will be impossible to determine the letter winners at this early date. The Hancockmen notched their fifth straight and their third conference win when they journeyed to Peoria to hand the Bradley Tech nine a 7-3 setback. A four run outburst in the sixth inning enabled the Red Birds to break a 1-1 tie and maintain their clean slate.

The Techmen jumped off to a 1-0 lead in the first inning on Handley's hit following an error but the Birds knotted the count in the fifth when Murdock forced Kuhfuss, who had singled, and counted on Goff's single to right.

The Hancockmen jumped on Daugherty, the Bradley hurler, in the sixth to break the deadlock and sew up the ball game. Rodegheiro walked, Gelsimino singled and Kuhfuss lined a hit to center to count both runners. Murdock forced Kuhfuss at second, Goff singled scoring his battery mate and came home from third on Alfeldt's fly to the outfield. They made it 7-1 in the seventh with a brace of runs on successive triples by Jacobson and Grimes. The Techmen staged a belated rally in the eighth when they scored twice on three hits and a walk but Goff was master of the situation and stopped the Hilltoppers by whiffing four men in the last two innings.

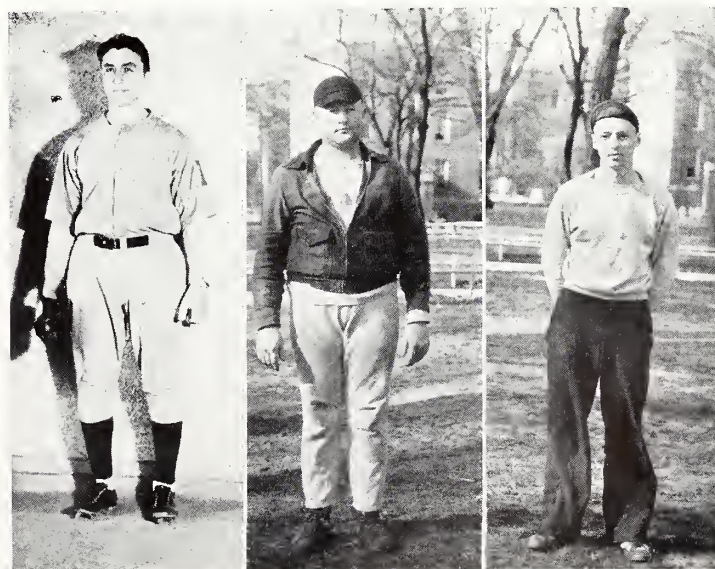

The Normal team has ten more games left on the schedule.

TRACK

Coach Cogdal took his squad of indoor trackmen to Naperville March 3, and succeeded in taking third place honors in the annual Little Nineteen indoor track meet. North Central won the meet, held in its own fieldhouse, by annexing a total of  $48\frac{1}{2}$  points. Illinois College placed second with 28 points, and Normal finished with  $26\frac{1}{3}$  to take third easily. Bill Bremer was the standout from the Redbirds' point of view because of his accomplishment in breaking the two mile course record. The Normal relay team, composed of Norton, Armitage, Miller, and Gorens, broke the meet record only to have North Central break it again a few minutes later in their heat. Lyle Hutton ran the two mile handily, with Bremer coming next to make it one-two. Old Normal showed strength in several of the other races, especially the 880 and the 440. Lyle Hutton suffered an injury in this meet, and his complete recovery was not in evidence until long after the start of the outdoor season. After their splendid showing in this meet the boys gave their track togs a rest during the week of heavy snows.

March 21 was supposed to see the beginning of good old springtime, but evidently the true spring didn't intend to enter into the track and field scene quite so early. As a result, things were not bright in this scene. Rainy, cold, dismal days greeted the Cogdalmen for two weeks thereafter, but they were on hand every night nevertheless. Sweat clothes and blankets were a necessity during these fourteen days. The weather was not the only thing that was handicapping the squad. Lyle Hutton, the greatest distance runner ever to enter a school in this section, was out indefinitely; Eddie Duesing, hurdle letterman, was walking only by the aid of a cane; and practically all the candidates were untried in competition. All in all, the prospects were not considered to be much brighter than those dreary practicing days. At about this juncture a sudden change took place, evidently the warmer weather was having an effect. Two days before the first conference meet, the sun gave the boys a decent break and they really proceeded to make the best of it. The ground crew took charge of the track, and by April 14 the team was ready to make its outdoor debut by "mixing" with Elmhurst College. Very few people could have predicted the mangling that the Redbirds were to give the Northerners.

"Deacon" Gorens proved himself to be the point-getter in this dual meet. He placed first in the 100 and in the 220, second in the broad jump, and competed on the winning relay team. Wayne Maurer, one of the untried, came in for second honors by virtue of his wins in the javelin and the discus. There were no records broken in this meet, and the quality of performance could have been better, but Old Normal's victory was certainly an impressive one. The final score,  $104\frac{2}{3}$  to  $26\frac{1}{3}$  Normal, was one of the most overwhelming victories ever scored on McCormick field.

Elmhurst succeeded in scoring a first in only one of the fifteen events, the broad jump. A "sand-hurdler" of championship calibre by the name of Druesike leaped 22 feet  $1\frac{3}{4}$  inches to take the opponents' only "five-pointer."

The Charleston Teachers journeyed from the Coles county seat to engage in Normal's second meet. The Eastern Illinois crew proved to be very ineffective both on the track and in the field, and old Normal emerged from the would-be track meet with a mere 111 to 20 victory. This meet was practically a repetition of the Elmhurst dual contest in which the home outfit won every first place but one. Whereas the Birdies lost only the broad jump to Elmhurst, they lost only the high jump to the E. I. Panthers.

Again Herbert "Deacon" Gorens walked off with individual honors by virtue of three firsts, annexed in the 100, the 220, and the broad jump. The anchor position on the relay team was also held down by the Lincoln boy. Wayne Maurer duplicated his Elmhurst performance by coming through with firsts in his two pet events, the javelin and the discus. Maurer threw the javelin more than 150 feet, and he hurled the discus some 115 feet. Captain Bill Bremer jogged to an easy win in the two-mile run in 10:48:4, and then went on to surprise the fans by winning the quarter mile, or 440, in :52:6, which was very good time considering the fact that it was a cold day. This marked the first time that the Berdie captain had ever run the 440. Cogdal's hurdlers took care of things for their coach in fine style. "Suds" Reid returned to the Cardinal lineup to win his favorite event, the 220 yard low hurdles. Norton Duesing ran the lows for the first time in this Charleston meet. "Barney" Barton placed second in the highs and "Red" Bowers was runner-up in the lows.

Robert Foster, the captain-elect of next year's cross country team, won the mile run in 4:41, pacing the Eastern runner, Brayles to the white thread. Curtis Smith came in for third place and a point. "Red" Forbes won the 880 yard run for the second time in as many meets; Carr again won the pole vault with a vault of 11 feet, 6 inches; Miller put the shot 41 feet, 4 inches from its starting point to take first in that event; and the relay team, composed of Bremer, Forbes, Armitage, and Gorens copped the mile relay in the time of :35:9. Henderson of Charleston took the only first that his team was able to annex. Henderson won the high jump with a five feet, nine inch effort. Hanes, of Normal, placed second.

Lyle Hutton, Normal's stellar distance man, was not dressed for this Charleston contest, but Coach Joe Cogdal had hopes of using Lyle in the remaining distance events appearing on the schedule. This year was the "Savannah Flyer's" last year on the Old Normal campus.

As a result of Normal's splendid showing in the first meets, followers have a reason to be optimistic about the outcome of the 1934 season. The remaining schedule should read something like this:

Illinois College—May 5

Wesleyan—May 7

Normal College Meet—May 12

Triangular meet with Wesleyan and Bradley—May 19

Little Nineteen Meet—May 26

If the Athletic Board grants permission, the team will be entered in the Central States Meet at Milwaukee.

TENNIS

The spring of 1933 witnessed the formation of a powerful tennis team for Old Normal. Under the capable direction of Coach Eugene Hill the net squad finished a season of stiff dual competition with nine victories in an even dozen meets. Bradley and Eureka were the only victors over Normal in the dual meets.

In addition to the dual competition the Red Birds participated in the district and state championships, winning both the singles and doubles in district but losing in the state.

After a very little outdoor practice the squad engaged the University of Illinois in a practice meet at Urbana and were forced to return without winning a single match. In this as in several other meets the team was handicapped by the fact that "Pim" Goff, ranking player on the squad, was unable to play because of baseball.

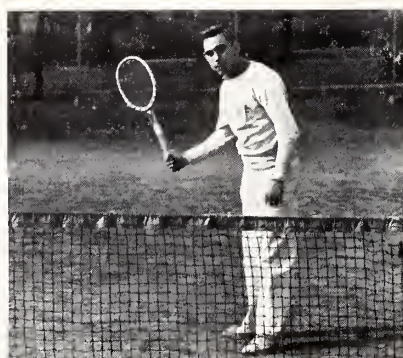

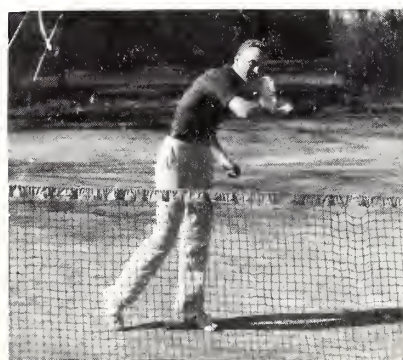

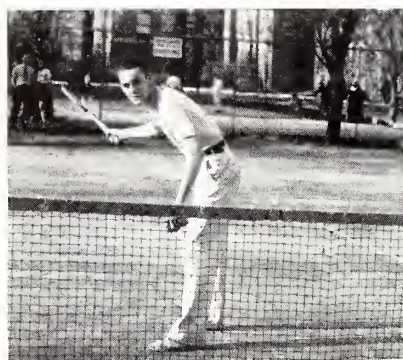

Not disheartened by their loss in the practice meet the team again journeyed out of town, this time to Illinois College and won three singles and both doubles matches for a 5-2 victory over the Blue racquet wielder.

As in the Illinois College meet the return of Goff aided the Cardinal cause tremendously and Macomb was sent home soundly trounced by the same score that Illinois College suffered. The Leathernecks were no match for the hard driving Normal players.

Bradley's powerful squad, playing on their home courts, proved to be an insurmountable obstacle to Coach Hill's protege's. Frank Muhl's singles victory was all that saved the meet from being an utter rout as Bradley won both the doubles and the rest of the singles matches. In the return match, played here, Bradley again was the victor, but not until Goff had defeated his former conqueror, Davis, and then teamed up with Sweet to win the first double match.

Charleston was the next victim of the Red Birds and just to make the victory emphatic the Panthers were not even allowed the consolation of a single match.

Victory over Wesleyan is always doubly sweet and in the meet here it became positively sirupy as the Titans barely succeeded in winning a single match. On Wesleyan's courts the Red Birds continued their winning streak and ran their total victories up to four.

Playing in top form, Goff and Sweet won both the singles and doubles matches in the district meet and earned the right to represent Normal in the State Championships.

Minus the services of Paul Reidel and Goff the rest of the squad couldn't quite muster up enough strength to subdue Eureka and the Red Devils won the closely fought contest 4-3.

Goff failed to repeat his previous victory in the state singles championship and after winning his first two matches was defeated in the semi-finals by Davis of Bradley, the ultimate winner of the meet. Sweet lost his first singles match to Umbeck of Elmhurst. Teamed up with Goff for the doubles, they won their first match against De Kalb. However, they lost in the next round and so for Normal the state meet was over.

The members of the varsity squad, all of whom were letter winners, were "Pim" Goff, Charles Sweet, Paul Reidel, Dorrance Darling, Rex Darling, Frank Muhl, and Herb Adams.

From the present indications, this year's team will be even stronger than last year and they have already won their first three dual meets with the loss of only two matches out of twenty-one.

In the first meet Illinois College again proved to be the initial victim and went down to a 7-0 defeat having won one set in all seven matches. Eureka fared only slightly better and was forced to be content with a single match as the Red Birds won the other six. Bradley, last year's other conqueror of the Normal squad, was defeated by a like score.

Wesleyan offered the Hillmen only little resistance. The home boys took a 6-1 victory from the Green and White netmen. Bandy, the transfer student from Notre Dame, was one of the outstanding stars in this match—one which old Normal always wants to win. Taylor and Darling lost a doubles match after the meet was assured for the Red and White. Darling had not been to practice, and Taylor was competing for experience.

INTRAMURAL

Sports for everyone, ranging from touch-football to checkers, and from boxing to pinochle, were offered to the 1933-4 intramural competitors. Needless to say, practically everyone was satisfied. Most of the credit for the successful program goes to Intramural Director Gene Hill. Mr. Hill's reward came at the sight of the large number of men competing in all the various fields. The intramural director has no other way of knowing how successful his program is.

The Greek letter system of naming teams was again used this year. All those boys in school last year were left on the same teams in which they had competed the year before. All of the entering students were drafted into the various organizations. The "N" club and the Varsity club teams were disbanded this year in an effort to make the field more evenly divided. Besides the team sports there were a number of individual contests, such as drop-kicking, wrestling, boxing, bowling, free-throwing, and ping-pong. Rivalry was not lacking in any tourney.

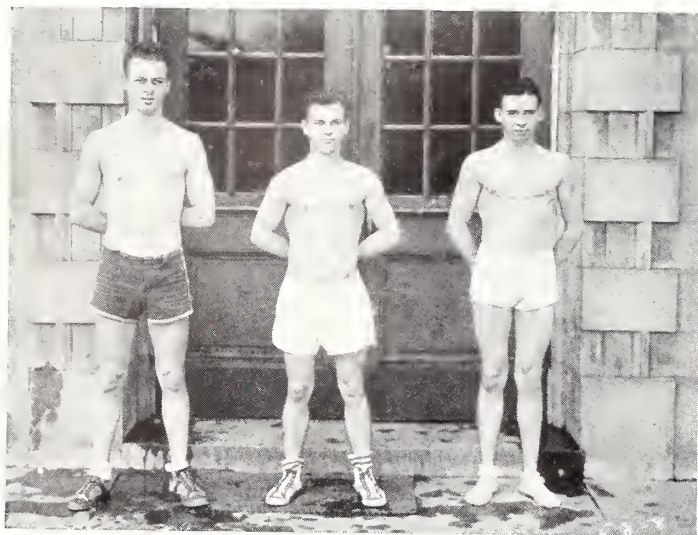

The intramural campaign got under way early in the fall term in the form of touch-football, a game which requires speed, a hefty throwing arm, and a manager capable of rounding up his men for the contests. The group was divided up into two leagues of four teams each. Each team was made up of two Greek letter organizations, inasmuch as there was a shortage of men. The two leagues were given the names of Cardinal, and Bear. The Kappa-Lambda group, representing the Cardinal league, won the trophy for this sport. They played, and defeated, the Eta-Theta group of the Bear league in the grand championship. Veach, Bremer, Murdock, and Barclay were the team's standouts.

A new sport was given a try in the first semester. It was listed as a drop-kicking Tournament. Those competing in this event were to kick 25 try-for-goals an evening for many, many evenings. Kenny Martin was the "Cream of the Crop" in this event. He started off hot by scoring 19 out of a possible 25 the first night out. McGrew and Carr stayed close on his heels but they never succeeded in overhauling him. The prize was a picture in the Index.

Late in the fall term the basketball, volleyball, and the bowling tournaments were started. Enthusiasm for these sports ran high, especially in the basketball circle, which had by far the largest following. Sixteen full teams were entered in this race, which started the week before vacation time. Every Tuesday night for some 14 weeks saw the various quintets out on the floor giving their all for the Greeks. After many furious struggles, the Epsilon crew managed to come out on the top of the pile. The Iota five paced the group for six weeks until the Xi team finally beat them. The Lambda team forged into the top position when they trounced the Xi. By this time the race was just about over, but the Epsilon team came up from behind with a rush to take the lead and hold it. Such things as crowds and bleachers were unknown at these games but such things as arguments, trippings, and pushings, were very, very common.

The weapons used in the bowling and volleyball tournaments seemed to fit the hands of the members of the Delta-Eta combination rather snugly, at any rate, these boys succeeded in doing a novel thing. They won both the volleyball and the bowling tourneys. If the Delta-Eta crew had had a theme song they certainly should have been allowed the right to sing it loudly.

While the Delta-Etas were annexing the team bowling championships Wayne Maurer was busy knocking the pins down for his own benefit in an effort to take the individual championship. He succeeded. Wayne was a member of the Xi organization. No one disputed his title of "The toughest pin tumbler." He was not challenged to any post-season matches; not, at least, by any of the Normal boys. Mr. Maurer should have been sent to the Bowling Congress at Peoria with the best regards of the school and a full purse to take care of expenses.

Maynard Biel was the best free-thrower in the department. The gentleman making the most tosses out of five-hundred was entitled to the championship, and that was none other than Mr. Biel. His average was really high. He made 395 out of the possible five-hundred. This is remarkable when one considers the fact that there was a scorer watching every shot. No one saw the scorer smoking choice cigars after the contest was annexed, so it must have been on the level. Biel for basketball captain!!

Charles Sweet came to the fore in the ping pong tourney, by virtue of his smashing drives and bounding serves. The tournament was a snap for Chuck. He was getting in training for tennis, and was enjoying another sport at the same time. When there are not tennis matches to be won, he goes out and wins ping pong matches. Ping pong is no game for a nervous man, but is one that requires perfect coordination and a goodly portion of that thing called luck. Sweet had one or the other, and possibly both. He paired up with "Duke" Ahern, Normal's ace baseball twirler, to win the doubles championship. These two partners brushed everyone aside to annex the number one position in the "pingy" world. "Duke" would not comment on the part that he played. Someone said he used to get the balls that rolled under the table, but that is doubtful. No, the "Duke" was right in there cutting them back as was his partner, Sweet. Ping pong honors are honors worth having in any school. McCormick Gymnasium's miniature Madison Square Garden saw plenty of sweltering action during the week that the boxing and wrestling tournaments were staged. All attendance records were broken and everyone had a place to stand to ogle at the grapplers. Seats would have been a big bother. To start things off Clover took the wrestling honors in the 118 pound class handily. G. Schmalz stuck several would-be grapplers' noses into the mat for a pair of time advantages and the 126 pound title. C. Hamm was the next boy to come through with the flying something or others. After wrestling several other 136 pounders he was awarded the title of "big Chief wrestler." Benjamin May, the East St. Louis product, took care of things in his division with a steel arm and a pin that left opponents on their backs (Respective backs). Kenny Martin, none other than the drop-kicking Martin, proceeded to drop-kick his way into the 155 pound championship. A gentleman by the name of Mr. McDaniel rolled and grunted his way into the 165 pound prize. McDaniel was on the top edge of all the falls and that seems to be what the prizes are awarded for. It is no secret that Vernon Uphoff, of Mattoon, won the 175 pound class blue ribbon. Uphoff used his weight to better advantage than his opponents, and therein lies the secret of his success. The grand finale saw some real action. The grande finale was none other than the struggle for heavy-weight honors. Bates took the championship, but only after a hard struggle in the first round. He met up with a scrapping colored boy who carried the fight for some time. The two masses of sweating flesh broke through the ropes on one occasion, and wrestled on the concrete floor. Bates finally won the bout and the Heavyweight championship.

Everyone who was inclined to be fistic-minded had his chance in the boxing tourney. Some of them stayed that way and others changed their minds to something more restful, like bridge. M. Pentecost slugged his way to the 118 pound title with a clever exhibition of boxing that was not overlooked by members of the loud-mouthed audience. That type of an audience was on hand—they always are—but, after all, that seems to be what makes up the sport world. Howard Taylor of Normal, who put up a good showing at the Golden Gloves sectional meet in Bloomington, succeeded in copping the honors in the 126 pound class. Van Winkle won the 135 pound division ribbon. "Von" has been known as a boxer for some time on the campus. G. Bevan won the 145 pound championship by disposing of several clever opponents. By this time the crowd was becoming impatient for a knockout. Oh well,—they didn't get it. Clayton Fry outpointed his men to take the 155 pound title with ease and the boxing gloves. The 165 pound medal was copped by none other than Leo Gelsomino, unfortunate baseball slugger. It was in these boxing matches that Leo broke his thumb which accident later gave him so much trouble on the ball diamond, and which forced him to lay out for a couple weeks. Leo probably figured that they would give him a better one for it and let it go at that.

AHERN

During the latter part of the fall term numerous other contests were started. These contests carried over until the middle of the spring quarter. The annual intramural bridge tournament was, as usual, a success. The pinochle tourney was a huge favorite with the participants, that is,—it was a huge favorite with those who kept on winning.

WOMEN'S ATHLETICS

K. EDNA JOHNSON AND MARJORIE WILSON

With the growing need for teaching adults what to do with leisure time, Illinois State Normal University is attempting through her Physical Education Department and allied organizations to provide adequate opportunities for all women students.

Not only does the curriculum of Physical Education for women include training in leadership in the different activities, but also through intramurals, Women's Athletic Association, and Orchesis, adequate opportunity is given to all women students to find some phase of recreation interesting to them.

Each activity is supervised by a member of the staff of Physical Education for Women, assisted by major students trained in that activity. Women's Athletic Association elects the student leaders who are to assist in planning and carrying out the Recreational program.

The program of recreational activities offered by the Department of Physical Education, and the Women's Athletic Association includes hockey, soccer, tennis, archery, basketball, volleyball, bowling, tumbling, golf, baseball, recreational games, social dancing, natural dancing, and tap dancing. Allied organizations such as the Women's Athletic Association, Physical Education Club, and Orchesis assist in this program.

The executive board of Women's Athletic Association, pictured below, works with the Department through their faculty sponsor, Miss Esther Hume, and the faculty supervisors of the different sports, in planning the program.

As a part of the educational program of the institution Women's Athletic Association offers an opportunity through various parties, dances, banquets and outings, for the social training of students. At least once during each term an all school party is sponsored by the organization. In the fall and spring terms organized hikes and various types of outings are offered. During the past year the Women's Athletic Association, under the supervision of the Physical Education staff, organized and conducted the first College Sports Day to be held in the state of Illinois.

Each term the organization sponsors social gatherings for members only, one of which is the Spring Sports banquet at which letter N's are given to outstanding members. The picture of these girls is shown below.

The sports offered during the fall term provided a wide variety to meet the tastes of a large number of girls.

Hockey, soccer, tennis, and archery were organized the second week of the term so that activities could begin at once. Phyllis Ann Ward was W. A. A. head of intramural hockey, and Juanita Biddle, of intramural soccer. Genevieve Mihalik and Marie Donovan were the heads of tennis and archery, respectively.

There were three hockey squads and a round robin tournament was held, each team playing every other team. The tournament opened November 7, at which time Wolff's team defeated Harmon's team with a score of 4 to 0. The second game resulted in a tie between the Wolff and the Ebert teams, the score being 0 to 0. The last game was a victory for the Ebert team over the Harmon team with a score of 2 to 0. About fifty girls participated in the tournament.

The soccer tournament was also a round robin tournament with three squads entered. Team 3, captained by Marcella DeWitt, won the tournament. The other teams, 1 and 2, were captained by Frances O'Brien and Wallace Wesley.

About thirty girls participated in each of the other two sports, tennis and archery.

Varsity hockey and varsity soccer teams were selected from the girls in the intramural group, and these teams competed with alumni teams as a part of the homecoming program. The games were held immediately after the parade on Saturday morning. The W. A. A. alumni team defeated the picked varsity team in the annual hockey classic with a score of 3 to 1.

A large crowd witnessed the trouncing of the varsity eleven. The alumni scored three goals during the first half and the varsity one goal during the second. The varsity team consisted of Harmon, Cook, Biddle, Wilder, Wolff, Lucas, Trendle, Ebert, Doolin, Blum, and Ward.

The banquet at Maplewood Country Club was also a part of the homecoming activities. About 60 members, past and present, attended.

The program was given almost entirely by the alumni. The president, Marjorie Cook, gave a few words of welcome, and Jessie Lucas acted as toastmistress.

Miss Lora Mary Dexheimer, of the training school faculty, was the first speaker. She gave an interesting discussion of the founding of W. A. A. Mrs. Wood talked next on the types of activities and the costumes of the Women's Athletic Associations of the past. Beatrice Baird, Doris LaMasters, and Dorothy Harmon also gave interesting and inspiring speeches.

A new project was sponsored this term by the Women's Athletic Association—that of Guest Night. An invitation to attend this Guest Night was extended to all the students and the faculty of Illinois State Normal University. A program was arranged by W. A. A. and presented by the members of the club. First on the program was a piano solo by Kathryn Day. Orchesis contributed two representative dances. Helen Marie Reynolds gave a reading and Caroline Wolff demonstrated her tapping ability. To close the program, the sophomore tapping class and the folk dancing class presented several numbers. After the program, there was group dancing, in which the audience participated.

During the winter quarter the activities changed to the various types which can be carried on indoors. The pictures below represent four of the important winter activities sponsored by the Department of Physical Education.

In the past few years interest in tapping has rapidly increased, as is shown by the large increase in enrollment. An average of 60 girls attended each class of tapping. These classes offer an opportunity to many girls in school who would not otherwise receive instruction in tapping. Miss Barto, assisted by Miss Carolyn Wolff, the student head of tapping, had charge of this work. During the year students from this group are chosen to give programs of tap dancing. We were glad this year to be able to again offer swimming to women students. As Normal does not have her own swimming facilities, classes were conducted once a week at the local Y. W. C. A. Students were divided into beginning, intermediate, and advanced swimmers. Due to the inadequate space and time, these classes were open to only a small number. Women's Athletic Association elected Marcella DeWitt as head of swimming, but due to limited space was unable to conduct an intramural program in swimming. Because of the interest shown, it is hoped sometime in the future that Normal will be able to offer a broader program in this valuable activity.

As the program was so full, the Department of Physical Education was unable to enlarge the tumbling program for this year. In order to fill the need, Women's Athletic Association offered classes in beginning and advanced tumbling under the leadership of Miss Mary Coffland, head of this activity.

There was a 40 per cent increase this year in participation in volley ball. Squads of 10 girls were chosen at the beginning of the season in order that team practice might be carried on without delay. Teams practiced twice a week for one month at the end of which time a round robin tournament was started. There was considerable interest and enthusiasm in the volley ball tournament and a large percentage of volley ball participants and other interested students came out to see the final game, which placed Dorothy Harmon's team Number 1, in the first place. Miss Brown, and Miss Frey, assisted by Miss Ruth Pritchett, head of intramural volleyball, are to be commended for organizing and conducting one of the most successful volleyball tournaments.

Though bowling has been offered as an intramural sport before, this year the small alleys were filled beyond capacity. It was necessary to offer bowling every afternoon in the week, and some evenings. Even so, it was impossible to take care of all who wished to participate in this activity. Miss Bergland, of the Department of Physical Education, assisted by Miss Margaret Naffziger, had charge of this activity. Due to the large numbers, an individual tournament could not be conducted. Teams of nine or more students were organized into an elimination tournament.

Basketball for women seems to be one of the most popular intramural activities, and this year at Illinois State Normal University the department of Physical Education for Women and W. A. A. met a problem in conducting an intramural program for over 100 girls, in one gymnasium.

Miss Hume or Miss Frey, faculty basketball coaches, Miss Frances O'Brien, W. A. A. head of basketball, assisted by at least two of the twelve student members of the major coaching and officiating class, gave instruction and conducted practices each afternoon and two evenings each week, for four weeks.

The first basketball meeting was held January the tenth. All notices and requirements were discussed. Ten managers or captains were elected. Teams were chosen and practice periods assigned.

At the end of the practice season, the teams were organized into two leagues for a round robin tournament. The winners of each league played a final game with Miss Fishbach's team of League 1 winning from Miss Bollinger's team of League 2. All contests except the last were officiated by student members of the major coaching class.

During the winter term when students could not be out of doors much of the time, W. A. A. offered a much needed opportunity for training in social situations through the planning and giving of various types of social affairs.

One of the outstanding social functions was the W. A. A. Christmas dance for all the women of the school.

In addition, W. A. A. this year, for the first time, held a closed dance for W. A. A. members and their escorts only. The dance was held at Fell Hall.

Baseball, tennis and archery took an important part in spring activities for women students at Illinois State Normal University. Although tennis is being offered as an activity in all gymnasium classes at the University, over 60 students who are not in classes have shown a desire to learn how to play tennis. Originally it was planned to offer coaching to beginners in this sport two evenings a week, but due to the large numbers, Miss Hume of the Department of Physical Education, assisted by Miss Genevieve Mihalik, student leader of this sport are giving classes to beginners four afternoons a week. Those who are more proficient in the art of tennis playing are practicing during the free hours of the week. One of the interesting spots during the tennis season is the invitational tournament sponsored by Millikin. This year Normal University sent two doubles teams. Bernice Doolin and Genevieve Mihalik were chosen as one of the teams to represent the school, and Dorothy Harmon and Reva Ebert the other. There will also be an intramural tournament in both doubles and singles later in the term.

Baseball as usual drew the interest of many students. At the beginning of the season a meeting of all interested in baseball was held. Because of the numbers showing a desire to play, 6 teams were organized immediately and then practiced twice a week. At the end of the practice period a round robin tournament was run off. Miss Bergland and Miss Frey of the physical education staff for women, assisted by Miss Helen Jones, student leader of this activity, were in charge of the practice periods. Three diamonds were laid off on the women's recreational field and were in use a great many hours during the day.

Archery under the leadership of Miss Frey and Miss Hume, members of the staff of physical education, has become one of the most popular sports at the University. It was offered in all gymnasium classes as well as four afternoons a week in intramural practice. Miss Marie Donovan, W. A. A. head of this sport, assisted by several major students, helped in carrying out this activity. The targets were placed on the campus ranges early each day and there was seldom an hour that one did not see them all in use. The archery season culminated in an official women's tournament late in May.

This spring golf was added to the list of intramural sports. At the beginning of the season regular stroke practices were held on Tuesdays fourth hour and Thursdays sixth hour. Later, intramural golfers practiced on the Maplewood Country Club golf course. A golf tournament was held late in May. Miss Ann Brown, faculty member, and Miss Helen Schuler, W. A. A. head of golf, were in charge of this program.

At Illinois State Normal University it is believed that an intramural program offers an opportunity for a vital part of the education of individuals and groups. Therefore, the program is under the direct supervision of the faculty of the department of physical education for women.

One of the greatest values of such a program is the opportunity it offers for student leadership. The Women's Athletic Association has the privilege and the responsibility of a large part of the planning, organizing, and conducting of intramural activities. The physical education faculty and the official board of W. A. A. jointly set up requirements and standards for each activity. Medical permits, a certain number of practices, and suitable costumes are required for all activities and for participation in tournaments.

Miss Margaret Barto, Director of physical education for women, appoints a faculty member as head of each sport and W. A. A. elects a student head of each sport. An instructor is also appointed as head of intramural contests, and W. A. A. elects a student head of intramurals. These heads of each sport comprise a committee governing their particular activities during the season.

ORCHESIS

Orchesis, national honorary dancing society, completes its seventh successful year on the campus this spring. Orchesis membership is open to any girl on the campus who has attended junior Orchesis and who has passed a test of dancing fundamentals and composition. All those who successfully pass this test are initiated into the society in a traditional candle-light service.

Orchesis strives to spread the gospel of the beauty, inspiration, and satisfaction of creative dancing; to create an interest in the dance among followers of other arts; to raise the dance to its rightful prominence in life.

This year, on Wednesday, February 14, Orchesis presented a guest night program before a capacity audience in the women's gymnasium. The first part of the program consisted of a simple demonstration of fundamental movements by Orchesis members and improvisation to a portion of "The Congo." Miss Thelma Shomler, dance instructor and Orchesis sponsor, explained the aims and work of Orchesis, and Helen Campbell was poet accompanist. The second part of the program consisted of colorful, gay dances. Marjorie Roberts, Orchesis accompanist, played a piano solo, "Malaguena," by Lecuona.

Members of Orchesis this year are: Aileen Browning, Wava Hollis, Caroline Wolff, Marian Denzer, Norma Gronemeier, Marjorie Marriott, Leona Peecken, Ruth Pritchett, Dorothy Harmon, Alice Blum, Phyllis Ward, Jean Wilder, Thelma Wilson, Juanita Biddle, Janet Smith, Charlotte Jackson, Maurine Blum. Marie Donovan also danced with the group.

You have just seen a picture-and-word reflection of the activities of the past year. Now let us turn to the people who form the school at large and to the individuals who are eminently representative of it. In other words, let us look from the activities to the personnel. When judged from many points of view, a school is as good as its student body. It is therein that the energy or the apathy of the college lies.

However, even the most progressive student body with the ablest leaders can do little without a sympathetic and energetic faculty advising and cooperating with them. In this second part of the Index you will find a record of the administration which, by the way, has caused us to alternately pull out our hair or cry with jubilation. Happily, the latter has been the case in the majority of our reactions.

ADMINISTRATION

RAYMOND W. OESCH

The genius for organization which President Fairchild possesses was one of the determining factors in his recent appointment as President of I.S.N.U. and has evidenced itself this year in the initial steps of a program designed to increase the efficiency of the University administration through the reorganization of curricula, departments, and the general functioning of the University.

Old Normal has made great strides forward in the short space of one year during which the present administration has been operating. The additions to the faculty this year number about fifteen, all of whom have adjusted themselves readily to the policies of the administration. A great deal of reconditioning work has been going on this year about the campus. C.W.A. funds have made possible the remodeling of the library interior, the construction of the long-wished-for student lounge, which has become a reality through the efforts of President Fairchild and various campus organizations, and the leveling of the entire athletic field after the installation of adequate drainage facilities. Many other improvements have been made about the campus and in the buildings.

The high standard maintained in all the departments has been very gratifying, especially in view of the fact that changes are gradually being made from the old curricula to the new. Normal is establishing a reputation for herself in sports, music, dramatics and all other fields.

Connections between I.S.N.U. and the community have been strengthened; Dr. Fairchild has been kept busy meeting engagements to speak before civic and school organizations of Bloomington and Central Illinois. Likewise, connections with Central Illinois school superintendents and principals have been strengthened by three meetings called by Dr. Fairchild to study the needs of each community. "Open House" was a new feature this year and it, too, proved to be a great strengthening factor between school and community.

Towanda High School has been added to the list of McLean County schools, which, through co-operation with I.S.N.U., receive additional courses of study, taught by faculty members and student teachers. The I.S.N.U. faculty now includes many supervisors of student teaching, as well as teachers in the Illinois Soldiers and Sailors Childrens School.

An admirable esprit de corps exists among the present student body; there is a spirit of hearty co-operation with the administration, among both faculty and students, so that the I.S.N.U. of today is carrying on the traditions of the past and upon a successful present is building a future of promise.

The pages which follow are an attempt to picture faithfully the activities of the various faculty members of Old Normal for the school year, 1933-34.

RAYMOND WILBER FAIRCHILD—

President A.B., University of Michigan; M.A., University of Michigan; Ph.D., Northwestern University; Student, Illinois Wesleyan University, University of Illinois, and University of Chicago.

Dr. Fairchild is very much interested in Athletic Activities as evidenced by his presence at most of Old Normal's Athletic Contests. He hopes for still greater school spirit.

I am pleased to know that, for the first time in the history of our school, a copy of the 1934 Index goes to every student in attendance during this entire school year. The interests and events that concern student life in I. S. N. U., presented here in such an attractive and complete manner, should serve as a reminder of the many possibilities afforded our students to participate in worthwhile activities. Without detracting from the great values that are present in class work of an academic and vocational nature, I feel certain that it is a mistake for students, especially prospective teachers, to pass through their school experience without participation in some form of student activity. Breadth of vision, appreciation of values, variation of approach to problems, development of an understanding of people, establishment of poise and self-confidence, and organization of procedures are but a few of the desirable results from contact with student activities. Such a program emphasizing such values I commend to all students.

Some people strive consciously for social recognition; others go about their work and awake one morning to find they have been noticed and appreciated. Most leaders are a combination of these two types. On a college campus may be found most of the elements which exist in the world at large. There is work to be done. From the student body arise certain individuals who come to be leaders in the accomplishment of this work. The following section is designed as a recognition of the service and of the eminent quality of the group included therein. Let this be part of their reward for being constructive school citizens.

As we live through a year we progress from one season to another until we have finished the fourth. Likewise in college we advance through four seasons which, according to precedent, have come to be called freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior. Sometimes the going is slow and the advance seems almost imperceptible. In another mood the time spent in school assumes a fleeting aspect. However it may seem, the experience is memorable and each year brings its particular set of adventures and acquaintances. The next pages contain the photographs of the members of the four classes. Looking through this section we recall many occasions of the school year and can not help being impressed by a fraternity which is too large, too heterogeneous to bear any Greek symbols—it is the fraternity of men and women going to the same college, knitted together in the pursuit of common ends, rejoicing in mutual triumphs.

In Memoriam

The Class of 1934 wishes to extend its sincere regard for Miss Doris Williams, one of our most esteemed class members who died during the school year 1933. She will always be remembered by her class as a pleasant companion, an excellent student, and a young woman of fine ideals and womanhood.

SENIORS

The Senior Class of 1934 hopped off the Greyhound bus in September, 1930, to purchase a Normal sticker to paste on its laundry bag. After the green veneer wore off and the Freshies were aware of their need for a class organization the following class officers were elected: George Taylor, president; Robert Bean, vice-president, and Richard Peterson, treasurer, which goes to show that girls of the 1930 class were still drying the tears of homesickness and were probably absent from the meeting. However, by the time the class had struggled through one year, Ann Uza was elected president, Lyle Hutton, vice-president. Ann certainly showed the male delegation how to run the affairs of a class and she proved to be an executive in many lines of endeavor.

There seemed to have been much hidden talent among our class members, for perhaps the class of '34 has produced more campus leaders and celebrities than any other one class.

The presidents of practically all of our Greek letter Societies are Seniors, and a majority of the members of these organizations are of the class of '34.

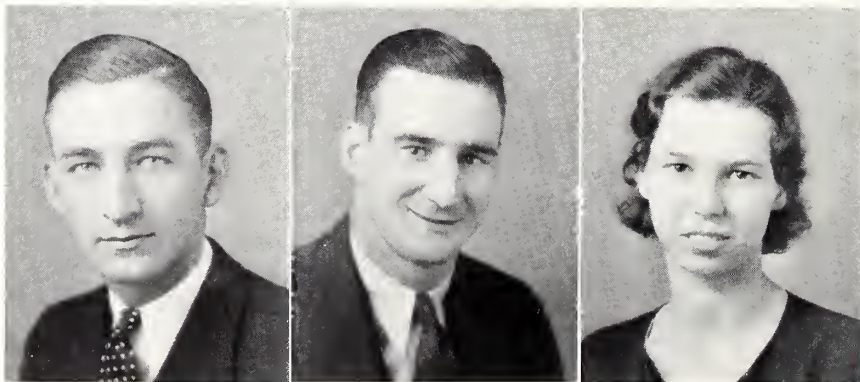

In physical education the seniors furnish such names as Bob Brummett, Stan Sleevar, Red Bennington, Tom Neill, William Kuhfuss and William Bremer, all men who have helped the Alma Mater win her victories in football, track and boxing.

The Senior Class has been blessed with much dramatic talent. The work of Wendell Oliver, Helen Campbell, Bob Duncan, Irene Nordine, and Katherine Donaldson has been near-professional and much of the success of "Belle Lamar" and "Quality Street" was due to the fine acting on the part of these actors.

In fine arts Frank Holstein is to be praised for his work in art, and the winning of the Merwin medal in painting; Helen Bischoff and Jean Snyder have been active in art work at the training school; Camilla Dey and Maxine Maginnis have been active in music work on the campus; and many of the seniors have done work in Glee Clubs, Orchestra, and band.

We have some promising poets and creative writers in the persons of Dale Etter and Jack Rosetter who worked on the Vidette magazine and helped to organize the Writer's Forum.

Much executive ability has been shown by such class members as Bernard Grimes who is President of the Varsity Club, and by Barbara Turner who has been this year's president of Women's League.

CLASS OF 1934

PAUL REIDEL

In Memoriam

The class of 1935 deeply feels the passing of one of its outstanding members, Paul Reidel. A leader in athletics as well as in the classroom, Paul will always remain in the memory of his classmates—a real fellow.

JUNIORS

In the fall of 1933, the Juniors elected William Bremer President of the Junior class, Leslie Rutledge, Vice-President and John Armitage, Secretary Treasurer. Mr. Fogler was chosen for the class sponsor.

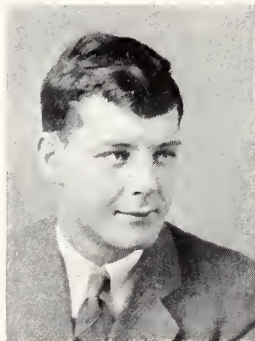

A very interesting situation exists among six of the members of the Junior class. These six members are Julia Blum, Barbara Turner, Herbert Adams, Jeanne Parrett, Mary Ellen Reece, and William Mc Knight. These six students have been classmates on the Illinois State Normal University campus for seventeen years. The eighteenth year will be completed in 1935.

They began with two years in kindergarten, eight years in the Metcalf grade school, four years in the University High School, and three years at Normal University. This is a situation which is rare among other schools.

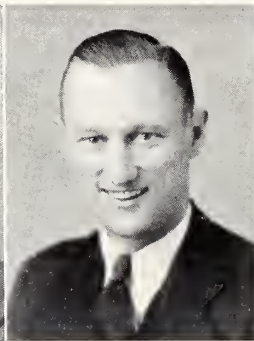

The Junior Class held a closed party at Fell Hall during the winter term of 1933. The committee in charge was composed of William Bremer, Julia Blum, William Samp, Alfred Robinson, Drusilla Hoyt, Charlotte Allen, Lloyd Cunningham, Robert Foster, Cecil Griffin, Louise Koehler, Ruth Pritchett, Maxine Powers, and Marjorie Eades.

The party was a dance, excellently played for by Dale Miller and his orchestra. The Juniors introduced a very unique method for the purpose of acquainting the members of the class with one another. Before the dance began, each boy had a number pinned on his back, and each girl received a program with a list of the dances and some numbers. For every dance the girl sought the male upon whose back was the number which corresponds to the one on her program. Then the two classmates danced together and became acquainted. This plan operated very successfully and the party was enjoyed by all.

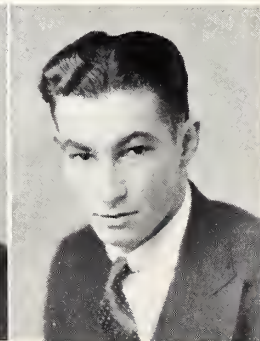

The Junior-Senior Prom was held on June 5, 1934 at Fell Hall. The ballroom was decorated with multicolored flowers and a nationally known orchestra was engaged to play.

Because of their prominence in the activities of the campus throughout the past year, we honor these people and consider them the outstanding members of the 1934 Junior class.

Paul Custer—Paul goes in for football in a big way and can make it plenty tough going for the men in the opponents line. Mr. Custer transferred from St. Viator College some time ago and has helped greatly in boosting the chances for a championship team at Illinois State Normal University.

Martha Young—Short story writing and dramatic production are only two of Miss Young's diversions. She has devoted much time on the production staffs and behind the scenes at the University Theater.

John Higgins—Music hath its charm according to John who is featured with Dale Miller's orchestra. Mr. Higgins is one of our outstanding musicians at State Normal and is a prominent figure in all the music circles.

Robert Foster—"Bob" is an excellent runner. He participates in both cross-country and track. He is the captain-elect for the 1935 cross-country team and is also a miler on the track squad. Bob deserves a great deal of praise for his track work at I. S. N. U.

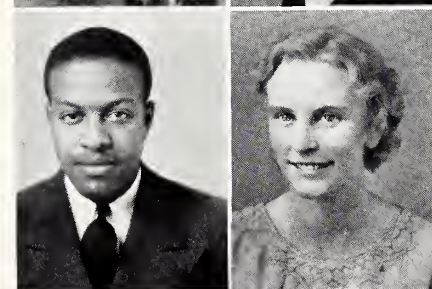

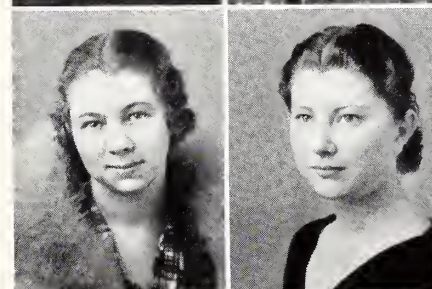

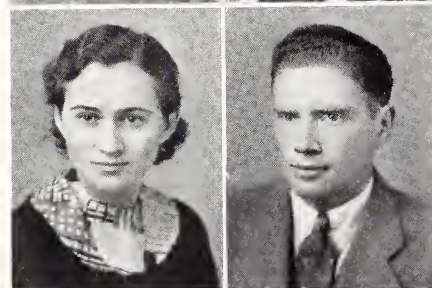

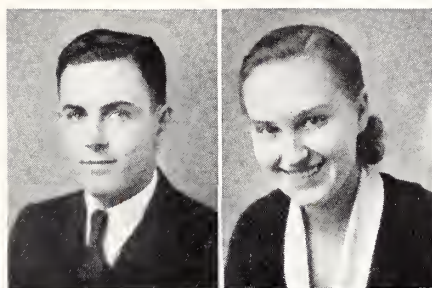

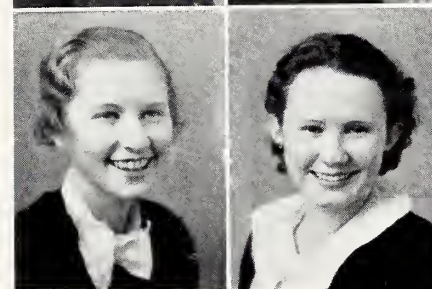

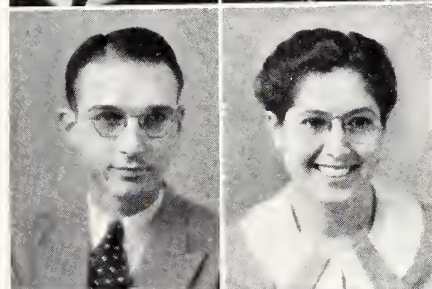

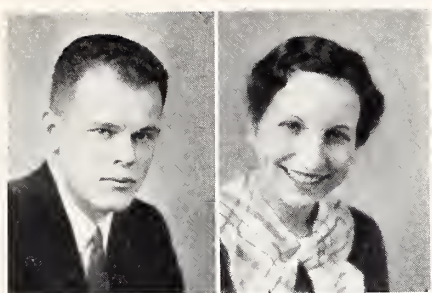

Harold Dennis—"Denny" is captain-elect of the 1935 football team. He is well known for his ability as a football player. "Denny" is a fighter from the opening to the closing whistle. He will be long remembered as one of old Normal's outstanding football stars.

Herbert Jackson—"Herb" is a member of the cross-country team. He is not a flash runner, but he is steady and dependable. Men of his caliber are welcome on any type of team.

Ivan Rehn found life as a school teacher most interesting in his first seven years' attempt, and this year returned to I. S. N. U. to further acquaint himself with the methods of instruction necessary to educate American youth. Mr. Rehn has taken an active part in debating and is well liked by his fellow classmates.

Charlotte Jackson continues to bring renown to the W. A. A. through tap dancing and all round ability as an athlete. Miss Jackson has appeared on several programs as a dancer, and the Gamma Phi Circus is one of her outstanding performances.

Dale Davis—Although Normal did not win any basketball championships, Dale kept it going to the end. Mr. Davis still has another year, and we are betting on him to help put us in the front.

Herbert Adams—When better basketball games are to be played, "Herb" will play them. "Herb" is captain-elect for 1934-35, and it should be a glorious year for old Normal. He is also a tough looking boy on the gridiron and not to say about other activities as the tennis team and the 1934 Index.

Edwin Albert Rakow has shown unusual ability in all things literary; writing, reading and dramatics are Mr. Rakow's interests. He will be remembered as the artist in "Berkerly" Square."

Delbert N. Eggenberger is a member of the Illinois State Normal University quartet through his ability to sing bass. Mr. Eggenberger is also an active member of the glee club and was granted a "berth" on the annual tour this spring.

Laverne Alice Taylor, devotes much time to music and is a member of the University String Ensemble, newly organized during the winter term.

Alfred William Robinson has devoted much of his time in the past year to the stage work of the University Theatre. Besides serving as a member of the Theatre Board, Mr. Robinson was chosen president of the Industrial Arts Club and Junior Class Editor of the 1934 Index.

Clifford "Scotty" Scott hardly needs an introduction to I. S. N. U. Time and again, Mr. Scott has won the admiration of his audiences for his inimitable performances in dramatics. He is president of "Jesters." In spite of all of this, he has found time for many other activities.

John Murdock has helped to make baseball history at Normal through his remarkable ability as catcher. Small in size—mighty in worth.

David Norton is one of the Junior track stars who has made a fine record on the cinder path.

Orville Sayers has proved himself to be a real scientist because of his interest in biology and geography. He is a member of Gamma Theta Upsilon. Mr. Sayers is also a member of the Track Team and has broken the tape often to win for Normal.

Jean Wilder is one of the very active physical education majors who has been active in W. A. A. and was this year elected to the Apportionment Board.

Jean Parrett has taken an interest in Glee Club work, W. A. A., and the League of Women Voters. She also served on the Date Book Committee.

Although Wava Mae Hollis is a commerce major, she has been interested in developing the creative side of her school life and is a member of Orchesis and the Writer's Forum.

Paul Balding has shown his love for the stage in such productions as "The Show-Off" and the Blackfriar success, "My Old Man."

Marjorie Vautrin Cline—"Marge" shows all the marks of a successful teacher-to-be by her interest and participation in the Commerce Club and Index staff. She has favorably impressed all her co-workers.

Fred Boll—"Freddie" transferred from Northwestern and his coming strengthened the hopes of I. S. N. U. for a winning grid team. Boll has shown the punch that goes to make successful athletics and instructors.

Van Lee Roy Brannon is a Bloomington boy who surely will make good. Van lends much color to the performances of the Gamma Phi tumblers through his unusual limberness and ease of controll.

Donald Deyo merits recognition for his ability as a leader of people. "Don" is president of the fast coming Blackfriar Club and is quite active in Dramatics and in debating circles.

Bernard Cater—The spirit of a team can easily be influenced by its manager. "Bud" has given our team in basketball and track something that must be good. So here's to you, Mr. Carter, you're an all-around fine fellow.

Drusilla Hoyt—Little people quite often are overlooked amid the bustle of our year's activity; however, Drusilla has distinguished herself in several ways. She was chosen president of the Art Club, and successfully planned and engineered the "Under the Sea" dance. Her efforts have always been most welcome with the University Theatre and the 1934 Index staff.

Too much praise can't be given him, for his active interest and help in school affairs.

William Samp—"Bill" is the junior representative on the student council and a debater too,—is it any wonder the Juniors went to town this year? A good student and a good fellow. He's a member of Wrightonia and served on the social committee for the Junior Dances.

Marjorie Wilson—"Marge" is the P. E. major you're apt to see most any time with her big bow and arrow arching away on the campus. She is an active W. A. A. member and Women's Sports Editor of the 1934 Index.

Lilith Southgate is one of our champion debaters. She is always in the front row of speech activities of the school and represented Philadelphia in the annual contest.

Russell Edmund Ahearn, can pitch a baseball and has brought old Normal out of the "rough" many times through his unusual ability.

Wilson Woodrow Stampe may someday become famous as a composer of music. His latest offering is the tune "Kappa Lambda Sweetheart" from the Blackfriar's hot show of the season "My Old Man". However, Mr. Stampe does not allow this hobby to interfere with his study as he ranks high as a university scholar.

William McKnight—"Bill of the New Deal", or to be more definite, business manager under the regime of "Ensign and McKnight", promoters of the 1934 Index. A dream of former editors has been to present to the students of Illinois State Normal University a free Index. Mr. William McKnight, in working with Mr. Ensign, made every effort toward this goal and succeeded in securing sufficient appropriation to make this dream a reality. In addition, Mr. McKnight has further proven his capability by taking an outstanding part in all school activities.

James Donaldson returned to school this year after a "try" at teaching in a St. Louis School. Mr. Donaldson is devoting his study to music and is an active member of the Illinois State Normal band and orchestra. He was selected for the annual tour of the Men's Glee Club.

Howard Litwiller—Howard will be remembered by his most graceful interpretation of "Lulu" in the bouncing ballet chorus of "My Old Man", presented by the Blackfriars. Mr. Litwiller is also an active member of the Men's Glee Club and Gamma Phi.

Osmond Howard expended many hours of his time in the interest of the Industrial Arts Club of which he was Secretary and Treasurer during the fall and winter terms. Mr. Howard served on the committee for the Homecoming dance and is always ready to lend a hand in all activities.

Genevieve Mihalik is a P. E. major and an active W. A. A. member. "Gen" was an attendant to the Circus Queen in the Gamma Phi circus. During the winter term she was initiated into Kappa Delta Epsilon, girls' honorary educational sorority.

Dorothy Sternberg is an active member of Theta Alpha Phi and has considerable experience in dramatic productions of the University Theater. Miss Sternberg gave a very pleasing performance in her portrayal of "Maw" in the homecoming play, the "Show Off".

Roy Melvin transferred from a certain neighboring college and brought with him his ability to compose music. This was quite evident in the Blackfriars' show—"My Old Man". Mr. Melvin plays clarinet with the Illinois State Normal University Band and is a member of the Men's Glee Club.

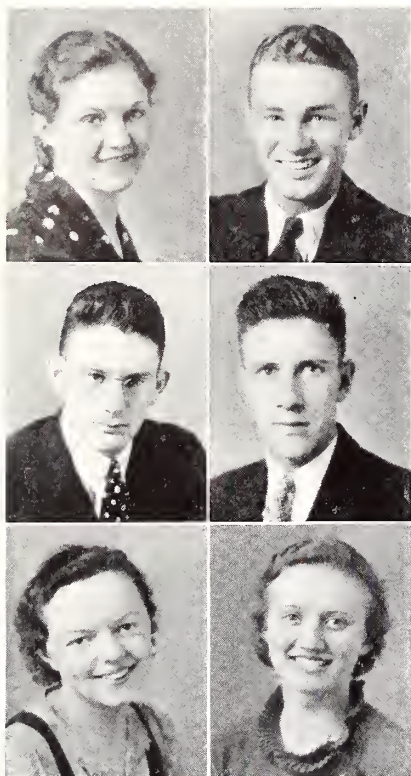

Otis Barclay is well known to the participants of Intramural games through his unfailing efforts as manager. Mr. Barclay is a future athletic coach and should make a successful teacher.

John Stanley Drew is really a descendant of the famous actor Drew and has convinced his audience of his dramatic ability in such productions as "R.U.R." and "Taming of the Shrew". Mr. Drew is widely experienced in the field of printing and has efficiently served as business manager of the 1934 Vidette, and is also a prominent student in the Industrial Arts Curriculum.

Ruth Bowman has given much of her time and interest to the Jesters, and Theta Alpha Phi—dramatic societies. Miss Bowman's efforts are not confined to dramatics only, as she is also active in debating work and the commerce club.

SOPHOMORES

We the members of the new sophomore class looked back with enthusiasm upon our past year of college experiences and determined to make our second year at I.S.N.U. even more joyous and successful than our first.

We accredit a great degree of our success in achieving this goal to our able and efficient class officers and to Dr. Ralph U. Gooding, who was chosen class sponsor and who guided us in our many and varied activities throughout the year.

One of our first social affairs was a closed dance held at Fell Hall during the winter term.

President Bowers and his social committee composed of John Sheahan, Rex Darling, Helen Schuler, Lois Keppler, and Dorothy Mindrup also planned the sophomore open dance which followed in the spring term. For this dance a most unusual and original decoration scheme was carried out. The freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior classes were each represented by an elaborate red and white checkerboard. Music by Jack Weddell's orchestra proved an added attraction which made the evening a complete success.

It was necessary for the sophomore class to call a special meeting early in the spring term to elect two new officers, Carrie Mae Oakland, vice-president and Lola J. Honeywell, secretary, to fill the vacancies left when Dorothy Mindrup and Edward Fitzgerald did not return. At this time we voted a donation of $25 to assist in furnishing the student lounge. A picnic committee, Richard Bennett, chairman, Helen Fetzner, and Elsie Muehlenpfordt, was appointed to make plans for a final social gathering for those who will receive diplomas.

Our class members have gained recognition in dramatics and athletics, and have taken an active part in the activities of the school.

Those of us who have reached the halfway mark and look forward to another two years of study and associations together plan to organize a "Four-Year-Curricula-Club" very soon.

FRESHMAN

Another Freshman Class has suffered the agony of being "just another bunch of greenies". However, the class has proved itself worthy of merit and made a record at I.S.N.U.

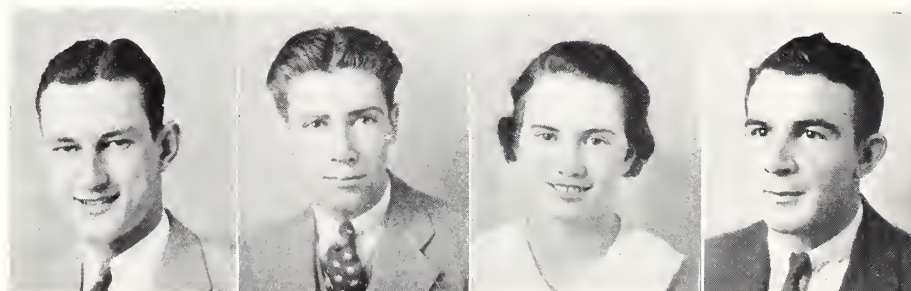

In order to make the first year of college a successful one, the members of the freshman class selected their leaders who gave them most efficient leadership. The officers elected were: President, Donal Imhoff; Vice-President, Jane Larrick; Secretary, Sherman Cahall; Treasurer, Joe McReynolds. Pauline Kreplin served as Social chairman through the year.

Professor Richard Browne served as class sponsor, and through his untiring efforts the class was stimulated to do things in a big way.

The class of 1937 has had its share of representatives in many lines of endeavor. Florence Smith and Stanley Mason were chosen as representatives to the Student Council, and Glenn Jacquat and Sherman Cahall served as class representatives on the Athletic Board.

Social activities also played an important part. Several dances were given throughout the year with well-known dance orchestras furnishing music. The all-school dance sponsored by the freshman class during the spring term proved one of the most successful of the freshman class social activities.

The standard set up by the class this year is commendable, and they plan to set it higher each of the remaining three years.

IN A SHADOWY COOLNESS WE HAVE WALKED AND LINGERED, WATCHING THE LAZY MOVEMENTS OF
MILK - WHITE CLOUDS AS THEY DRIFT OUT OF SIGHT
OR BECOME GLORIFIED IN AN AUTUMN SUNSET.

SOMETIMES THE MOON HAS MADE A QUIET, WHITE GARDEN OF THE CAMPUS, DRIFTING ACROSS THE SKY UNTIL WE SAW IT FILIGREED BY THE TREES LIKE THE MASTERPIECE OF SOME ANCIENT SILVERSMITH.

LIKE A WHITE RIBBON THE SIDEWALK TRACES ITS WAY ACROSS THE GREEN VELVET CAMPUS.

EACH YEAR THE SNOW WORKS ITS SILENT TRANS-FORMATION - - CONSISTENT IN ITS BEAUTY YET EVER VARYING IN ITS DETAIL.

VINE COVERED AND MEDIEVAL IN ASPECT THE OLD CASTLE LIES SNUG AMONG ITS ABUNDANT SHRUBBERY.

BEAUTY OF LANDSCAPE IS HELD MORE DEAR WHEN COMBINED WITH THE TRADITIONAL LOVE OF THE FAMILIAR.

PERHAPS WE SHALL BE MANY MILES FROM HERE IN THE FUTURE, BUT CERTAIN SCENES WILL BE TOO VIVID TO BE ERASED BY EITHER TIME OR DISTANCE.

NO PICTURE CAN CAPTURE THE TOTAL IMPRESSION OF A SCHOOL SO WELL AS A CAMPUS SCENE - - THE INANIMATE FREQUENTLY SPEAKS AND GESTURES THE MOST POIGNANTLY.
